FRANCIS DAVID FARRELL, Agr. D.
President

THE mission of the Kansas State Agricultural College is difficult and important. The College is maintained primarily to help increase the fitness of people who work for a livelihood to cope with the problems with which they are confronted. It seeks, through research and education, to help people who are engaged in great fields of agriculture, the industries and industrial sciences, in homemaking, or in the professions that are related directly to these spheres of activity, to improve their efficiency as workers, their value as citizens, and their happiness as human beings.

Last year more than 4,000 resident students were enrolled at the college. About 95 per cent of these students came from 101 counties of Kansas. The others came from 26 other states and 11 foreign countries. In its training the faculty represents more than 100 colleges and universities in the United States and Europe. The diversity of nationality, experience, point of view and educational interest represented by students and faculty provide a cosmopolitan atmosphere that is tolerant, interesting and stimulating.

As required by law, the college offers training in both technical and liberal subjects—in agriculture, home economics, engineering, veterinary medicine, architecture and the physical and biological sciences, and also in music, literature, dramatics, history, languages and other liberal subjects.

Kansas State Agricultural College is conducted on the principle that labor and culture are not incompatible; the principle that "It is only by labor that thought can be made productive, and only by thought that labor can be made happy." The large group of democratic, well-behaved students, and the more than 6,000 usefully employed graduates demonstrate that the principle is a sound one.

IF TREES and stones could break their silence what fascinating stories they could tell us of the past 60 years on the campus of the Kansas State Agricultural College! Stories of romance, of loyalty to purpose, stories of intrigue and plotting to destroy, stories of conquest and victory over adverse circumstances, stories of glorious increase in power and influence, stories of the generations of students who have come and gone during more than the half century!

They would tell us that in 1867 friendships were true among the 178 students who composed the student body; that the seeking after knowledge was keen in 1877 among the 234 gathered here; that interest in education was on the increase in 1887 as evidenced by the 481 students; that the College had grown to be an important institution in 1897 when there were 734 students crowding its halls, but it would be in 1907 when the enrollment sprang to 1937 that the trees and stones would have the most thrilling story to tell—a decade of unusual accomplishment when the attention of the people of Kansas was attracted in a spectacular way to the College by the political forces then at work. Appropriations were increased, an enlarged building program was carried out, college work was changed from one general curriculum to several specialized curricula, the short courses were established, and an era of unusual growth resulted. In 1917 the story would be of continued quiet growth up to an enrollment of 3,340 and from 1917 to 1927 a decade of activity on the campus resulting in higher academic standards, broadened curricula, enlarged facilities for instruction, and more varied student interests. The story would recite the events of the early part of the decade when the shadow of the World War hung over the campus and the pulse of the college community quickened to the tramp of young soldier feet.

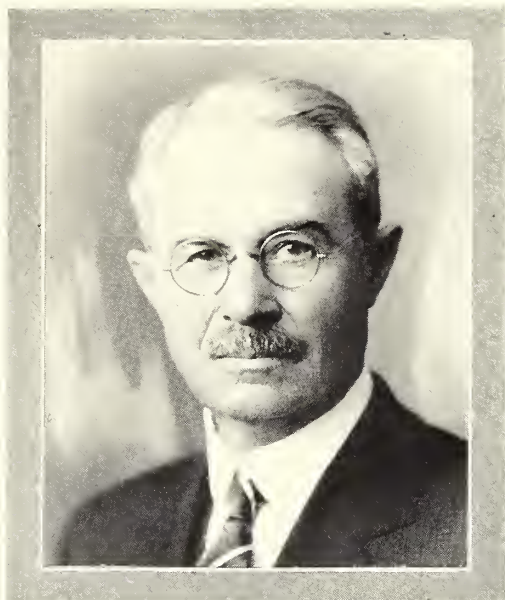

C. O. PRICE
Secretary to the President

What, we wonder, would be the prophecy of the next decade—1927 to 1937—if the trees and stones could break their silence?

Another decade of quiet growth and gradual raising of standards? Another turbulent decade such as 1897 to 1907, when the increase in enrollment was so rapid that the increase in facilities could not keep up with it? Another—but the future alone will determine the story that will be told of that decade to come.

The Division of

DEAN J. T. WILLARD

THE Division of General Science is a college in itself. It enrolled this year 1,321 students, the largest number in any division. This is because of the general character of the curricula in its charge and of the courses offered. It consists of 18 departments, including Bacteriology, Botany and Plant Pathology, Chemistry, Economics and Sociology, Education, English, Entomology, History and Government, Industrial Journalism, Library, Mathematics, Military Science, Modern Language, Music, Physical Education, Physics, Public Speaking, and Zoology. Simply reading the names of these departments is sufficient to show the broad range that one's study might take in if he were restricted wholly to this division of the college.

About three-fourths of all the teaching done in the institution is the work of the faculty of this division. This is due to the fact that fundamental work in general subjects required in curricula handled by other divisions is taught by this faculty in addition to most of the work of the curricula in its own charge. These curricula are: General Science, Industrial Journalism, Industrial Chemistry, Rural Commerce, Physical Education for Men, Physical Education for Women, Public School Music, Piano, Voice, and Violin.

It may be noted that the courses taught by this division not only provide much that is necessary in technical and professional occupations, but also the culture that insures satisfaction in one's leisure hours. With the increased efficiency that man has attained in the production of the necessities and the luxuries of life it has become possible to meet these needs and desires without the extremely long hours of daily labor. Use without abuse of the remainder of one's time calls for rational and cultural, or at least harmless, channels toward which spare time may be diverted. The curricula in Music and in Physical Education offered in this division are distinct contributions to the opportunities which this college affords for those wishing to fit themselves for the enjoyment of music and sports, and participants, spectators or auditors, and also for those who wish to become thoroughly qualified teachers in these fields.

Space does not permit a review of the 10 or 12 curricula in charge of this division. It may be noted, however, that they cover a considerable range of occupational interest. Most of them by means of elective opportunity or specific requirements enable the student to qualify for teaching in one of several different fields. Preparation may also be made for research or administrative work. Many of our graduates have achieved eminence in a large variety of scientific, professional, industrial and business fields.

It is the province of the departments grouped in the Division of General Science to give basic, scientific, cultural and disciplinary training. Since their work is not only foundational, but penetrates through all the characteristic vocational curricula of the institution, as the structural steel of the modern skyscraper forms a secure framework for the more readily visible, and evidently important parts, the departments thus give unity to all the four-year curricula.

The curriculum in General Science proper is the lineal descendant of the original single curriculum which the college offered for many years, although it has been modified so as to be almost beyond recognition. The curriculum in Industrial Journalism was added in 1910 and that in Industrial Chemistry in 1919. The four-year curricula in music had their beginning in 1916, but were not offered in full form until 1922.

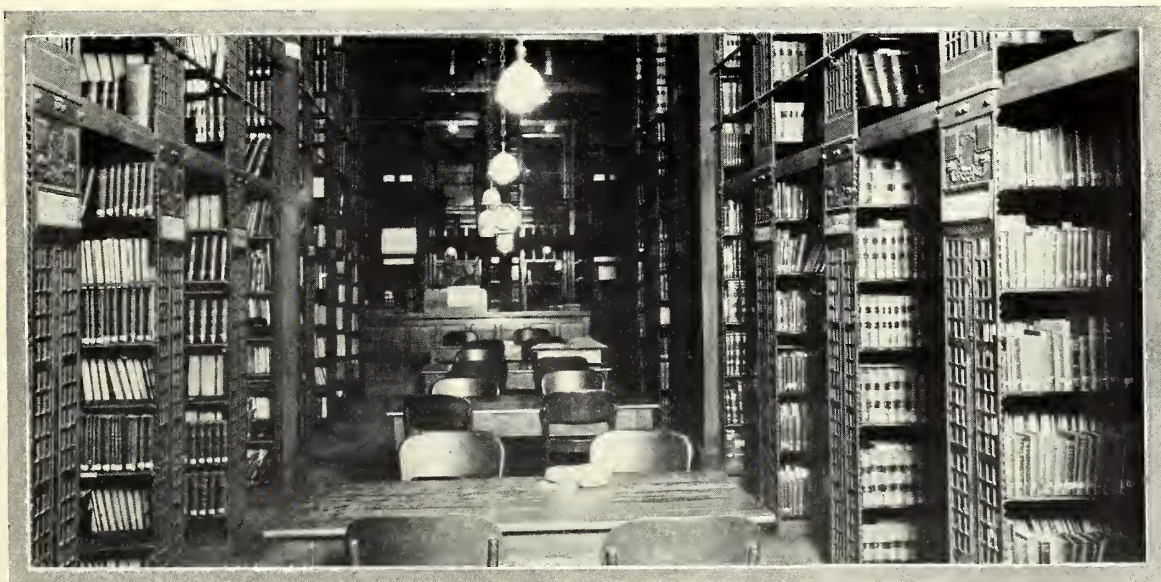

Recognizing the need for training business men for rural communities in which a knowledge of rural conditions is necessary, the college in 1921 established the curriculum in Rural Commerce, now followed by more than 300 students.

The latest additions to the extensive field of the Division are the curricula in Physical Education, for men and women, the freshmen years of which were given in 1925-26.

All curricula administered by the Division include liberal provisions for electives by means of which professional subjects in education and extensive groups in science, language, or general cultural subjects may be chosen.

MISS ALICE MELTON
Secretary

The Division of

DEAN R. A. SEATON

ENGINEERING has come to play a prominent part in industrial activities of the world, and the conduct of many important industries has been intrusted in large measure to technically trained engineers.

Their value becomes evident if western nations are compared with oriental countries, in which little engineering development has taken place, leaving transportation and industrial production and the mode of living of the people very primitive.

In the future the engineer will be called on to extend the work already begun. Generation and transmission of power, the development of land transportation for commerce, marine transportation and inland waterways—all will combine to offer as great a field as the past for invention and application of ingenuity. The development of these, and hence the progress of civilization, rest largely in the hands of the engineer.

The work of the engineer is not to discover the secrets of nature, nor to build with his own hands and tools the structure or machinery. His work is to prepare plans and designs, making utilization of the discoveries of scientists and investigators possible. What the scientific investigator works out in theory he must apply in practice, turning theories into bridges and roads and power lines.

Schools cannot meet the present demand for engineers in commercial pursuits. Graduates in all branches have opportunities to start work immediately at a salary assuring a comfortable living, and in congenial lines offering opportunity for promotion.

Every year many corporations take graduate engineers from K. S. A. C. for employment, who are further trained for the particular work they will follow.

Four-year courses are offered in agricultural, architectural, chemical, civil, electrical, flour mill, and mechanical engineering, and in architecture and landscape architecture. One and two-year trade courses also are given in various lines of shop work.

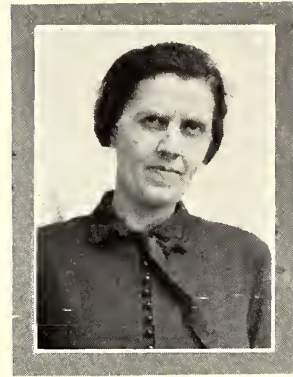

Increase in the number of engineering students at K. S. A. C. has been considerably greater in recent years than in other leading Mississippi valley schools. From 1919 to 1927 the number of collegiate engineering students here increased from less than 500 to more than 1,000, so that at present the K. S. A. C. division is the largest in Kansas, and one of the three largest between the Mississippi river and Pacific coast.

The Engineering Faculty

Engineering

The engineering experiment station is maintained to carry on tests and research work of engineering and manufacturing value to Kansas, and of collecting, preparing, and presenting technical information in a form available for use of various industries within the state. All state tests of road building materials also are carried on in the laboratories of the K. S. A. C. engineering department. Tests of lubricating oils used by state institutions also are made in the experiment station.

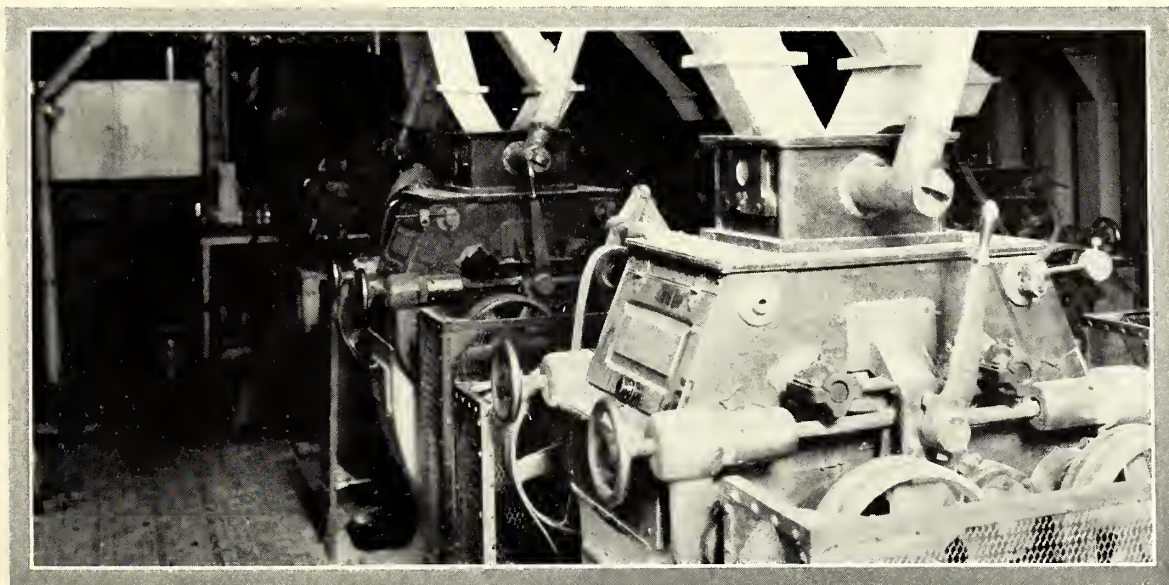

MISS LOUISE SCHWENSON
Secretary

The engineering division is the second largest in the college, being exceeded in point of numbers only by the division of general science. About one-third of all students enrolling in college during the regular winter sessions are in the engineering division, the enrollment including almost half of the men attending the college.

For several years before the war the enrollment in the engineering division remained almost stationary at between 300 and 350 students. Following the war an increase was felt, until the present enrollment is nearly three times that of the pre-war years.

With the large increase in enrollment there has been no difficulty, however, in placing all graduates of the division in attractive positions. The field for men trained in engineering is great both along lines calling for engineers as such and for men with a knowledge of engineering to act as salesmen, representatives, etc., for companies whose products have to do with engineering.

The fact that engineering graduates are making good is evidenced not only by the promotions and responsibilities given them, but also by the fact that employers keep coming back for more of them.

DEAN L. E. CALL

THE teaching of efficient, practical agriculture is fundamental to a State the principal industry of which is agriculture. Kansas prospers in direct proportion to the productivity of the soil and the efficiency with which the soil products of the state are marketed and utilized. The kind of agricultural instruction which will lead to success in farming must develop high qualities of character, combined with good judgment and knowledge of fundamentals.

Agricultural education, however, that fails to train the rural business man has fallen short of its goal. In order, therefore, to provide training for the farmer and the business man who is to serve the farmer, four-year curricula are offered by the college in agriculture, in agricultural administration, and in agriculture with special training for landscape gardening. A combined curriculum of six years also is offered in animal husbandry and veterinary medicine, giving an opportunity for a complete all-around training of the stockman of the future.

The four-year curriculum in agriculture was designed primarily to meet the needs of the students who expect to return to the farm. The American farmer today needs not only the skill that comes from the training of the hand and the knowledge that comes from the training of the mind in the sciences underlying production practices, but also needs thorough training in the business aspects of his profession and the inter-relationships existing between farmers, and between farmers and other groups of society.

The curriculum in agriculture trains not only for the farm, but for many lines of specialized agricultural work. The demand for men thus trained is constantly increasing and such positions offer attractive opportunities for men who by nature and training are adapted to the work. The U. S. D. A., the state colleges, the departments of agriculture, high schools, private institutions of secondary and college rank, and a great variety of commercial interests are constantly demanding men trained in agriculture. Of some 1,200 students who have graduated from this curriculum, approximately 50 per cent are now engaged in farming, 36 per cent in other types of agricultural work, and 14 per cent are deceased or work in other occupations.

Agriculture

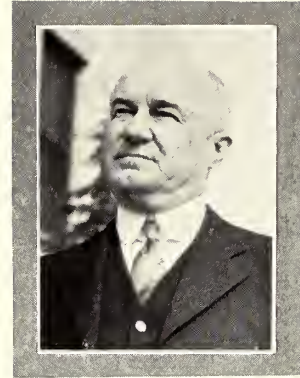

The curriculum in agricultural administration offered for the first time next year, is planned to meet the needs of students preparing for work in the industries closely related to farming, in which basic agricultural and business training is desirable.

The business man who is to serve the farmer successfully must understand the needs of his patrons and how to meet them effectively and economically, and also must know the principles of successful business activity. The curriculum in agricultural administration is planned, therefore, to give knowledge of the needs and problems of agriculture and the principles of successful merchandising.

The agricultural experiment station is the agricultural fact-finding agency of the college. The work is organized around definite projects, carefully selected and planned. At the present time, there are more than 100 active projects in a number of distinct fields, as follows: Studies in the economics of agriculture, studies in soil conservation, studies in home economics, investigations in the plant and animal industries and other miscellaneous agricultural problems.

The industries of Kansas have developed greatly during the past score of years, and will continue to do so in the future, but farming must ever remain the most important among them. As the population of the world continues to increase so must the vast expanse of fertile, rolling prairie that is Kansas increase in productivity to supply food and raiment to the world.

Kansas has been fortunate in her heritage. Her Kaw valley may be compared in richness and productivity to the Nile valley of the eastern world. Her grasslands produce some of the world's best cattle, and her plains the world's best wheat. Because of her heritage, the future will demand much of Kansas, and Kansas men and women must be trained to meet the demands of that future. It is to this end that the efforts of the K. S. A. C. division of agriculture are bent—to train the coming leaders of the state's greatest and the nations' most fundamental industry—agriculture.

HUGH DURHAM
Secretary

DEAN MARGARET JUSTIN

THE Division of Home Economics is a steadily growing unit, attracting students of high standing and those desirous of advanced work, as well as the undergraduate. The expansion from just the "cooking and sewing" of years ago to five departments, each with its definite subject matter, is a noticeable feature. All departments are offering more elective courses and a wider scope for research in various lines.

The food economics and nutrition department has established a nutrition laboratory with experimental animals for studying the vitamin content of foods, and a chemical laboratory for determining chemical composition and utilization of goods under various methods of storing, preparation, and use.

The increase in electives gives a greater chance for majoring in nutrition. Growth in interest in student dietetic work in hospitals, and in food clinics open to the public, has been shown.

In the clothing and textiles department, the research work has been given an appreciable impetus by the equipment of a research laboratory in which are various pieces of apparatus. Among these are an abrasion machine for determining the wearing quality of materials, and a wind tunnel for testing the protection afforded the body by fabrics in moving air, the last being the Purnell project for the department.

Most of the graduates of the Division enter the profession of home-making, but there is scarcely a ranking Home Economics College in the country in which the Division is not represented by its graduates. The department proceeds on the idea pronounced in 1873 by President Jackson, that "A girl has a right to an education as precisely adapted to a woman's work as a boy's is preparatory to a man's work. She has a right to all the knowledge which related sciences can contribute to her intelligence, adeptness, and efficiency in the art of home-making."

Home Economics

The institutional management department is well represented by the college cafeteria, which, during 1926, served 182,019 regular meals, 15,670 plates at banquets and special dinners, furnishing employment for 65 students, and functioned as a laboratory for training 32 girls in institutional economics.

Van Zile hall, the new dormitory, is filling a need not only in housing the girls, but also for observation on housekeeping costs and administration and institutional food problems.

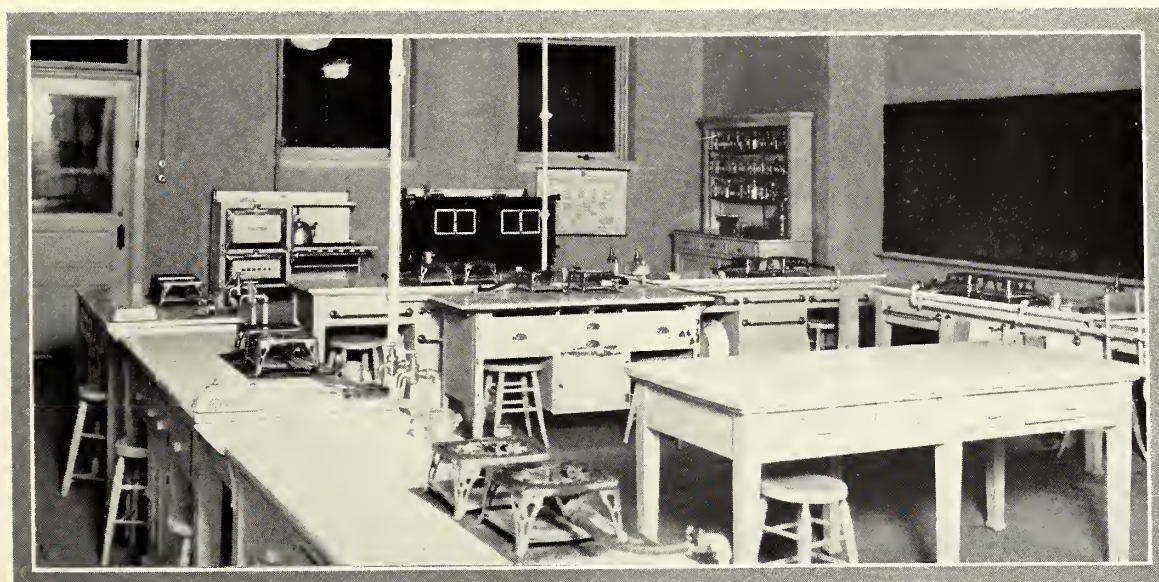

In the household economics department, one of the outstanding developments is the nursery school in connection with the child-welfare course, which serves as a laboratory in that work. There is an enrollment of 15, varying in age from three to nine years. Research is carried on in the relation of environment factors to the general development, placing emphasis on the things that will be of special help to the mother.

The applied-art department is offering graduate work in design and costume-design developing into historical research, and adaptation of historic costume to modern needs; also special methods to aid in the presentation of art work in the public schools.

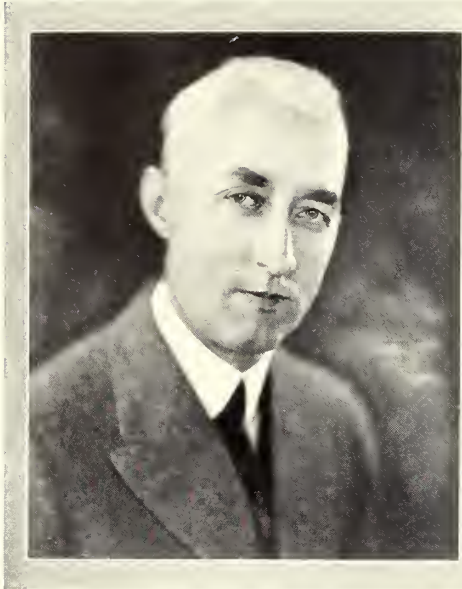

The nucleus for an art museum presents the possibility for continuous exhibits.

K. S. A. C. was the first college in the United States to establish courses in Home Economics. Sewing instruction was offered in 1873, the first classes meeting in the old Bluenmont Central College. Two years later household chemistry and household economy were added, the classes meeting in what is now known as Farm Machinery hall.

Kadzie hall, the first college building in the United States to be used exclusively for Home Economics instruction, was built in 1897. The present Home Economics building, now known as Calvin hall, was erected in 1908, and the college Cafeteria in 1921. Ellen Richards lodge, used as a practice house for students in household economics courses, is located off the campus.

DEAN RALPH R. DYKSTRA

THE curriculum in veterinary medicine is spread over a period of four collegiate years and at the end of that time, upon successful completion of the course, the degree Doctor of Veterinary Medicine is conferred. In order to be admitted the matriculant must have completed the equivalent of a high school course.

There are 13 veterinary colleges in America, all connected with state universities or colleges, and all having almost identical standards of admission and duration of curriculum. All are recognized by the American Veterinary Medical Association and the U. S. Civil Service Commission. Only four schools have received recognition by the War Department by having detailed to them a veterinary unit with a regular army officer in charge. K. S. A. C. is one of the four.

No veterinary school in America has physical equipment excelling that of K. S. A. C. Its buildings and laboratories are new and fully equipped with modern appliances necessary for successful teaching. The veterinary hospital, erected at a cost of $100,000, is a model of its kind, and in it large numbers of animal patients are treated every year.

The teaching staff is unique amongst veterinary faculties in that its members are graduates from a large number of different colleges. There is no "inbreeding" in the K. S. A. C. veterinary faculty. All members have had extensive teaching, research and practical experience.

Demands for veterinarians are constantly increasing. The livestock of the country is improving, and there are immense herds of purebred domesticated animals. The total value of livestock in the United States is more than eight billion dollars. Veterinarians are also employed by cities, counties and states, as well as by the federal government for inspection of human food products of animal origin, and regulation of animal diseases.

At the present time there are enrolled in all the veterinary schools of America less than 500 students, which is less than 125 for each of the four years of the curriculum—signifying that not more than 125 new veterinarians are graduated every year, which is less than the number being lost through death and retirement. It is therefore perfectly evident that with increasing numbers of livestock and decreasing numbers in the veterinary ranks, there is no lack of employment for those entering this vocation.

Veterinary education in the United States has advanced with rapid strides. Originally a trade, it is now a science with a foundation as broad and thorough as any of the learned professions, and has attracted to its ranks many of the best of the high school graduates.

Like human medicine, the teaching of veterinary medicine is carried on entirely at public expense, the various states recognizing that prosperous agriculture depends to a great extent on healthy livestock.

The first degree in veterinary medicine conferred by K. S. A. C. was given in 1907. From then until the school year 1925-26 there were 268 degrees granted.

The importance of veterinary medicine to Kansas is recognized by the organization of the K. S. A. C. instruction in that subject as a separate division of the college. Unlimited opportunity for the gaining of practical knowledge in connection with the theoretical work is offered through the veterinary clinic, which draws a great number of cases from the farming country surrounding Manhattan, and from the rest of the state as well.

MISS RUTH PHILLIPS
Secretary

A veterinary "lab"

The Division of Summer School

DEAN E. L. HOLTON

SUMMER instruction at K. S. A. C. was first offered in 1904, when 17 students took advantage of the facilities thus made available. Enrollment has increased from that number to nearly a thousand, with 367 courses offered in 1926 in graduate and undergraduate work. In the summer of 1925 a special August session of the school was held as an experiment, which was continued successfully in 1926. The August session is primarily for vocational teachers who cannot get away from their work at any other time of year.

The chief purpose of the summer school is to provide opportunities for study on the part of those who can not make use of the regular sessions. Teachers and professional people are thus given the privilege of advanced study during the summer months, and students who desire to study eleven months out of the year instead of nine.

The percentage of graduate students in summer school is much greater than during the regular semesters, and conditions are very favorable for good scholastic work.

Special lectures, films, conferences, in addition to the usual social affairs, are made a part of the summer-school entertainment program.

Courses are offered in all departments of the college. A maximum of nine credit hours may be carried during the six weeks of the session. All college athletic facilities, such as the tennis courts, swimming pool, etc., are open to summer-school students.

Division of Extension

THE justification of public interest in promoting education is not that of teaching an individual to make more money for himself, but rather that he will become an influence in his community in behalf of higher ideals in standards of living.

Most K. S. A. C. students know the three main groups into which college activities are divided: Resident teaching, research, and extension, and realize in the main the results of these activities. Probably only a few realize that there is another influence exerted which is, from the standpoint of public interest, fundamentally more important than any of the other influences which it exerts. Men and women who have attended the institution acquire from it certain higher ideals and standards which they take with them to their communities. These citizens become farm bureau presidents, committee chairmen, or club leaders. They sponsor farmers' institutes, promote better schools, and engage in the various activities which help make better places in which to live. In other words, they not only by their example encourage more profitable methods of production, but also in other ways exert an influence in raising the living standard of the community.

In co-operation with these leaders the extension service is accomplishing a definite program of organization whereby these communities may study their problems and intelligently apply available facts to their solution. In Kansas last year there were more than 800 communities so organized, and which served not only the purpose of applying knowledge to the economic phases of production, but to the social needs of the community as well. Sixty-three county agricultural agents and 17 home demonstration agents co-operated directly in this program of rural advancement.

Thus the realization of the public's expectation from such an educational institution is effectively being accomplished through better rural citizenship.

DEAN HARRY UMBERGER

MRS. MARY P. VAN ZILE
Dean of Women

Dean of Women

THE position of the Dean of Women is based on the ideal for students of the highest physical, intellectual, moral, and spiritual development. The objective of the dean is to contribute to the realization of the ideal. The problems of living conditions, of health, of social life, of employment, and of vocational guidance are her special concern. She serves on committees, secures employment for self-supporting students, recommends students for loans, supervises the living arrangements for women students. She sponsors special talks for students, Big Sister programs, house mothers' meetings, personal and group interviews, and social events. She fosters in the students the president's ideals for the college and presents to the president the student viewpoint. She assists in making contacts between men and women, between the sorority women and the independents, between students earning their way through college and the others, between the students and citizens of Manhattan.

These duties occupy her time but do not express the meaning of her work. It is rather a service which has for its aim the effecting of better adjustments between students and the world in which they live.

The Voices of the People

UNIONIST PARTY SWINGS ELECTION

SMALL BUT SUBSTANTIAL MARGINS GAVE UNIONISTS THEIR VICTORY

THEODORICS WIN THREE

Total Number of Votes Cast is Smaller, But Percentage Increase Over Past Years is Large.

The Unionist party completely reversed the results of last semester's Theodoric victory, at the polls yesterday, and swept the Theodoric party under a landslide of votes. The Theodorics won three offices.

The margins of victory were in most cases small, although substantial enough that there was no question after the first few votes were counted as to the probable outcome.

THEODORIC—THE STRENGTH OF THE PEOPLE—MEETS POPULAR DEMAND

PLATFORM ANNOUNCED

Plans for Kalakak and Seigga Party Yet Unannounced but Combination Expected

The Platform

Believing in a deeper and more everlasting interest in school politics, the Theodoric party advances the following platform:

1. Voting without taxation.
2. Support of the honor system.
3. Better varsities.
4. Democracy and honesty.
5. Greater interest in school politics.
6. Recognition of S. G. A. as controlling student body.

"Democracy and honesty" was the keynote struck last night at a meeting of the organizers of the hill's third and newest party, "Theodoric, the Strength of the People."

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Student Governing Association

FRED M. SHIDELER
President

STUDENT Government at Kansas State is under the control of the Student Governing Association, membership in which is contingent on payment of the varsity activity fee. Most of the business of the association is carried on by the student council of seven members, elected each spring to serve the following year.

Among the duties of the council are apportionment of the varsity activity fee; control of the special fund set aside for support of activities not covered by the fee; supervision of class elections and activities; pep meeting organization; control of varsity dances, and the handling of all student discipline with the exception of cribbing cases.

In discipline cases the council sits as a court for trial, and passes sentence, subject to review by the faculty council and approval by the president of the college, which has been given in every case coming before the council operating under the present constitution.

The seven-person council plan was used this year for the first time, the former council having been of 17 members.

Student Governing Association

The smaller council can be more easily called together than the larger body, and each member is forced to take much more individual interest and responsibility than was formerly the case.

Council members are nominated by petition, any S. G. A. member being eligible.

Officers of the council are elected by the council, and serve as officers both of the council and the association.

A business meeting of the entire governing association is held once a year, in April, at which time nomination petitions for the new council are read and any necessary business transacted.

Funds set aside for special administration by the council are used at the council's discretion; among the activities sponsored in this manner being the Go-To-College teams; the trip of the Men's Glee Club to the Missouri Valley contest; college publicity and class election expenses.

The Kansas State S. G. A. is a member of the Mid-West Student Conference of Colleges and Universities.

—For, what might the thunder—smitten thing
 But, pillared high and proud, in marble guise
 Hold a ducal crown, which means earth's promise,

ALL of which has nothing at all to do with the history of the Class of '27—yes, Kansas State, Class of '27—but poetry is such a delightful manner in which to open a work of this kind. Especially when the class has been quite rational and there may not be enough interesting details to cover more than eight dollars' worth of an expensive Royal Purple page.

Nevertheless, custom and statistics must be satisfied and apropos satisfaction is this: As was expected, 1,160 of us drifted in for registration in September, 1923. As was foreordained, 25% received E grades the first year and 25% were called home because of ailing grandmothers, wheat crops that needed planting, Charleston knees, incompatibility, and the general unsatisfactoriness of the college. (See the psychology department for more complete details.)

As per expectations, 35% withstood the ravages of time and instructors to enroll for the fourth year, and still bearing with Roger Babson, of the 1,160 that started, 29% will—but here we must pause in the middle of a statistic to recall that our four years saw the passing of Jardine to greener fields and the ascension of Farrell to that all-highest position, the installation of radio station KSAC and 14 honorary fraternities, a change for the better in the trend of K. S. A. C. athletics, the regime of the Charleston and Black Bottom, the event of the Kalakak, Seigga, Union and Theodoric parties, the rise to popularity of ingeniously decorated slickers and galoshes and silly Russian boots, and upward trend in skirts, the union of hose and bloomers, prosperous days for the Scheu-Johnny-Last Chance triangle, innumerable campus flivvers and plus-fours, and added impetus to the collegiate movement. But to resume the statistics—do the goose-step across the auditorium platform to receive our $10-paid-in-advance sheepskin and take the pledge that when we are alumni we will see that more of the better football players are financially able to come to Kansas State and enroll in the physical education course.

We can chronicle no outstanding loyalty to the alma mater as yet. That will come, in abundance, when we rise and sing, "I know a spot that I love full well," etc., at the 1937 reunion. We have executed the same clever stunts, with variations, and committed the same forgivable sins and have been just as interesting and self-satisfied as any class that has preceded or will follow us. Despite the fact that the state legislature frowns upon Latin at the junction of the Blue and the Kaw, it is only fitting that we close with a classic quotation meaning, "onward and upward" and "on, for new worlds to conquer:"

CHRONICLES OF THE TRIBE OF TWENTININE

(By the Historian)

AND it came to pass that in the reign of Fdfarrell there arose a new tribe in the kingdom of Kansag, even the tribe of twentinine. And Milocoldren, a mighty man of the tribe, blew a loud blast on his mouth, and assembled the people. And they gathered together in one place and made him governor over them. And from their number they named others of wisdom, and set them in high places to help govern the people.

And the tribe did exult exceedingly, and their heads did swell even to a great size, for great was the strength of its warriors and the beauty of its maidens excelled in all the land. But envy arose in the hearts of the other tribes, and they did gather in a confab, which is, being interpreted, a fest, and they did swear a mighty oath, saying, "Now shall we humble our enemies." And they devised green headgear and did order all the warriors of the tribe of twentinine to array themselves therewith. But the warriors rebelled and from that time there was strife among the tribes. And the other tribes did summon the men of twentinine to Boardmeetings, so that their ardor was dampened, and the head-sizes waned and grew small.

Now the king Fdfarrell did cause a great assembly of all the kingdom to be gathered, and many of the nobles that serve the king, even the fakulti, did speak with many words, and some did spill an exceedingly amount of bunk, but others spoke most nobly of the great arena, the Memorialstadium, arising in the kingdom. And two of the nobles, Mikeahearn and Charlie-backman, did move the hearts of the tribe of twentinine so that they did give ear to their pleas, and they did bring forth their shekels and offer them. Wherefore it befell that there were lean days among the tribe of twentinine.

Now it was the custom that the fakulti did set tasks for the people of the tribe to perform, and there were those who were wroth to do so, and many were called before the king. And some there were who folded their tents and journeyed out of that land in great haste.

And Piercepowers was made governor instead of Milocoldren. And there was less turmoil in his reign.

And lo, certain of the tribe, they that were called Pledges, did now begin to act as mad, and to perform all manner of strange and foolish things, and they that saw did become convulsed and did verily laugh themselves unto sickness. But the Pledges did hide their faces and were filled with shame. But it befell before many days had passed that they were no longer called Pledges, but Actives, and they became exceedingly vain, and did puff out their chests unto Pouter pigeons, and there was no living with them.

But the days hastened onward, and it came to pass that a strange plague fell upon the people and harried the whole kingdom. This was the plague known as Finals. And the people did shake as in an ague, and became surpassing pale around the gills, and did drink much black coffee. But when it was passed, those who were not slain rejoiced and made songs of thanksgiving.

And when the ninth month was come again, the people gathered to choose them a new governor and nobles. And lo, there was great strife and those called Theodorics strove against others, Unionists, and there was much talk, but it was wind, like unto the wind of the bellows. Then with great strength did the Theodorics triumph, and Sidpatterson was made governor. But the Unionists became wroth, and five months later choose Haroldwitt as high lord.

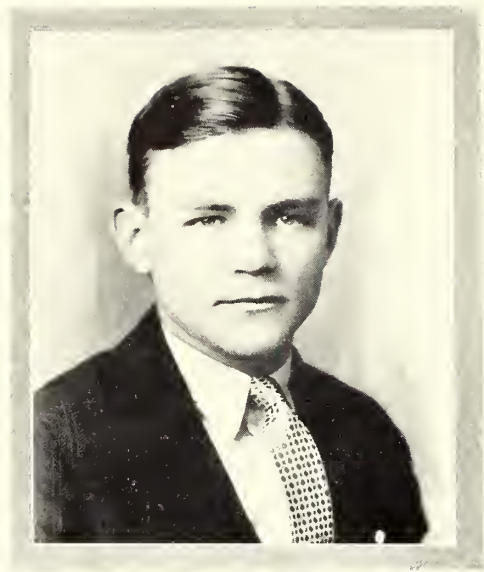

And the tribe of twentinine was become mighty and full of great wisdom, and the people rejoiced and shouted, "Long live the tribe of Twentinine! May it ever prosper!"

YES, we are the Freshman Class—young, innocent, unsophisticated. But we came to college younger, more innocent, and more unsophisticated. We are proud to admit that we are Freshmen. Who can point out a better class? We have students represented in all lines of activities on the Hill—in debate, in music, and in athletics.

WE have taken the usual interest in class affairs. We have flunked and we have made E grades. We have attended class meetings and class functions as every freshman class before us has done. The freshman football squad made a good showing in practice and in its game against the University of Nebraska frosh. Many of the men on the squad will probably be wearing varsity sweaters next year. The freshman class issued a challenge to the sophomore class for competition in a field day, but the class of '29 would not accept it.

We are alive. More will be heard from us in the years to come.

THE Agricultural Association was formed in the spring of 1921. The purpose of the association is to co-ordinate the efforts of the separate departments of the division of agriculture and to promote the interest of all agricultural students.

The association sponsors the annual Ag Fair, the Kansas Agricultural Student, the all-agricultural mixer, and the giving of medals to all members of intercollegiate judging teams.

THE Agricultural Economics Club was organized in 1921 at Manhattan. Its purpose is to further professional and social interests of its members, foster a closer relationship and unified spirit among its members and the faculty of the Department of Agricultural Economics. Active membership is limited to agricultural students majoring in agricultural economics. Honorary membership includes graduate students and faculty members of the department.

THE AG FAIR was organized in the spring of 1920 for the purpose of uniting the departments of the division of agriculture in one central effort and so create a spirit of unity and co-operation among the students. It has also proved to be of much educational value, as it gives students experience which can be used in putting on county fairs and various other community organizations of which agricultural graduates are often put in charge. The Ag Fair is the one big enterprise in which every Ag student takes an active part.

THE Block and Bridle Club was organized in 1914 as the Jayhawker Saddle and Sirloin Club, and entered the national organization of Block and Bridle in 1921. The function of the Club is to promote the livestock industry, aid in inter-scholastic departmental activities, and foster the advancement of animal husbandry as a profession. Meetings are held the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month at which short business sessions are held prior to a program on some phase of animal husbandry work.

WITH a total of 8,698 points, the senior stock judging team this year stood 182 points higher than any other team in the United States. Starting as a junior team in the spring of '26 they took second place in the contest at Denver. As the senior team they took second at both the American Royal at Kansas City and the International Livestock Exposition at Chicago. Professor Bell, one of the leading coaches in the United States, is gratified with the consistency with which the team placed this year.

"THE most fiery, peppiest bunch of fellows I've ever had on any team," is Professor Bell's version of this year's junior team. The team placed third at the National Western Livestock show at Denver in the closest contest ever held there. Less than a hundred points was the margin between the high and low teams in the contest. The juniors are going to the Royal and International next year after first place, and nothing else, they claim.

THE Klod and Kernel Klub is composed of faculty members, seniors, juniors, and sophomores in the Department of Agronomy. The programs which are presented at each meeting are so planned that the members may obtain greater knowledge and have increased interest in the production of farm crops. The Club sponsors a student crops-judging contest each year, and takes an active part in the annual Ag Fair. The Club was organized April 6, 1917.

THE Grain Judging Team placed first in the Crops Judging contest at the International Hay and Grain Show held in Chicago November 27, 1926. This is the second time in the last three years that the team from K. S. A. C. has won first place in this contest. Both years they were in competition with teams from eight states.

The team was awarded a silver trophy by the Union Stockyards and Transit Company, and a $250 scholarship by the Pullman Company.

The team placed first in commercial grading, second in identification of crops, and fourth in comparative placing. The individual rankings in all classes were: E. B. Coffman, Manhattan, third; Albert Watson, Osage City, fifth; S. M. Raleigh, Clyde, sixth. Placings in the individual classes show high ranking for each man on the team. Coffman was first in judging alfalfa seed and soybeans, tied for first in grading oats and cotton, and was second in all classes of commercial grading. Watson was high man in stapling cotton and in judging wheat, and tied for first with Coffman in grading cotton. Raleigh was high man in grading hay and second in grading cotton.

Loren F. Ungeheuer, of Centerville, was alternate. The team was coached by Prof. J. W. Zahnley and Prof. C. D. Davis.

THE Young Men's Christian Association of K. S. A. C. is the organized result of a student movement to unite the spiritual and moral forces of the campus for the purpose of developing "all around Christian manhood." In addition it is an association of men which desires to develop the proper spirit and morals on the campus. The Y. M. C. A. is maintained and financed by the students and faculty. There are no stipulated fees. Membership means conviction and service, not money. The "Y" is a democratic organization in which every member has voting privileges. No distinction is made to creed or race. The officers and committees are responsible for the association program and policy.

ALPHA CHAPTER was organized at the University of Illinois in 1911 by Rev. S. E. Fisher. In 1913, Beta Chapter was organized at K. S. A. C. under the leadership of Rev. J. David Arnold. Later Bethany Circle became a national organization and now has a membership of seven chapters. The eleventh national convention was held at Iowa City, April 16-18, 1926. The object of Bethany Circle is "To establish and maintain a friendly relationship among the student girls of Christian Church preference; to make the work of Bethany Circle a real means of Christian influence among the girls by arousing an interest in the church and its various departments; to maintain as individuals a high ideal of scholarship, to strive for broad sympathetic interest in human activities, and to develop a rich and gracious personality."

KAPPA PHI was organized at the University of Kansas in 1916 to form a closer association among Methodist women who are students in the state and independent universities; to make work among student women of the denomination more effective and sufficient, to maintain a more serviceable organization to take care of incoming Methodist freshmen, and to provide in a college woman's way religious training and stronger, more efficient women of the church of tomorrow. There are now seventeen active chapters.

1927 Royal Purple

IT IS with a sense of relief and regret that this page is written. Relief that the end of a hair-graying job is in sight; regret that the end of the job also marks the end of K. S. A. C. days for most of the staff.

This 1927 Royal Purple was compiled with the purpose of catching and holding something of the past college year for all time. The staff has tried, as all staffs do, to give the college its best Royal Purple. Its work is offered without explanation or comment.

Whatever defects there may be are best realized by those who have worked over this and 423 (count 'em) other pages for the past nine months.

If you, gentle reader, are not one of the many who in spite of superhuman efforts get themselves in the space allotted for the picture of someone else. If your name is not one of the kind that simply refuses to be spelled, even with the aid of the student directory, the college catalogue, and Webster's International. If you are not one of those who forgot to have your picture taken after having paid for it, and then forgot about forgetting. If you are not one of these, you can view this volume with an open mind.

For every word said in its pages there were a thousand left unsaid about K. S. A. C. activities and events during the past year. For every picture there are a hundred more that would bring back a pleasant personality or incident in the years ahead. The 1927 Royal Purple is another exhibit in the annual struggle of a staff against time, space, and inexperience. If the staff has in addition created out of type and engravings and paper a book that has something of "The Hill"—something of the classroom and the campus, something of the good times and hard times, something of the athletics, something, in brief, that recalls to you 1926-27 at Manhattan,—the staff is ready to go home, now, and catch up on a little sleep.

Before doing so, however, the staff wishes to acknowledge its indebtedness to Prof. H. W. Davis, faculty adviser, for his counsel, to Prof. E. T. Keith for his advice on printing matters, and to all of the hundreds of those who were on the hill during the past year who have aided either directly or indirectly in the making of the book.

THE Brown Bull, the only humor publication at K. S. A. C., was established in 1920. Formerly the Brown Bull was published jointly by Sigma Delta Chi and Theta Sigma Phi. This year, however, Theta Sigma Phi has taken sole responsibility for its publication.

The Brown Bull ranks with the best college-humor publications in the United States, and is quoted by other college publications as well as national-humor magazines.

THE Kansas Agricultural Student is the official organ of the Agricultural Association, the general student organization of the division of agriculture. It is a 32-page, highly illustrated, quarterly magazine, the first number of which was issued in December, 1921. The chief activities of the division of agriculture are reported in the magazine which also gives semi-official reports of the outstanding projects under investigation in the agricultural experiment station.

THE Kansas State Engineer is published by the Engineering Association. The first issue was printed in the fall of 1915. Publication was discontinued during the war but was resumed in 1921.

The Engineer is published four times during the school year. It is a member of the Engineering College Magazines, an organization composed of similar publications in 20 of the leading engineering schools of America. The Kansas State Engineer is sent to all the large universities and colleges of the United States, to most of the high schools in Kansas, to the county engineers in Kansas, and to each engineering student at K. S. A. C.

C. W. BACHMAN
Head Coach

DESPITE the jinx that swooped down on the Wildcat football team in its last three games, after it had been all-victorious in the first five, the 1926 football season was successful, and the 1926 team one of the greatest ever to come out of Manhattan.

Five consecutive victories, including a home-field massacre of the ancient enemy, Kansas, before a record crowd of 16,500, were brought to an end with the loss to Marquette.

Torrents of rain stopped the Wildcat backfield, and gave Nebraska a 3-0 victory in one of the Valley's greatest battles, and the final game with Iowa State was "one of those things" in which a field goal was better than a safety.

Head Coach Bachman, ably assisted by Frank Root, turned out his greatest Wildcat team, and added the third consecutive victory to the total over Kansas, it being six years next fall since the Jayhawk last tasted victory.

Minutes that will live forever for 1926 rooters are those of the fourth touchdown against Kansas, and the ones which brought the news of Huston's last-minute game-winning kick at Oklahoma, when the grid-graph crowd tore 12 seats out of the Marshall theater.

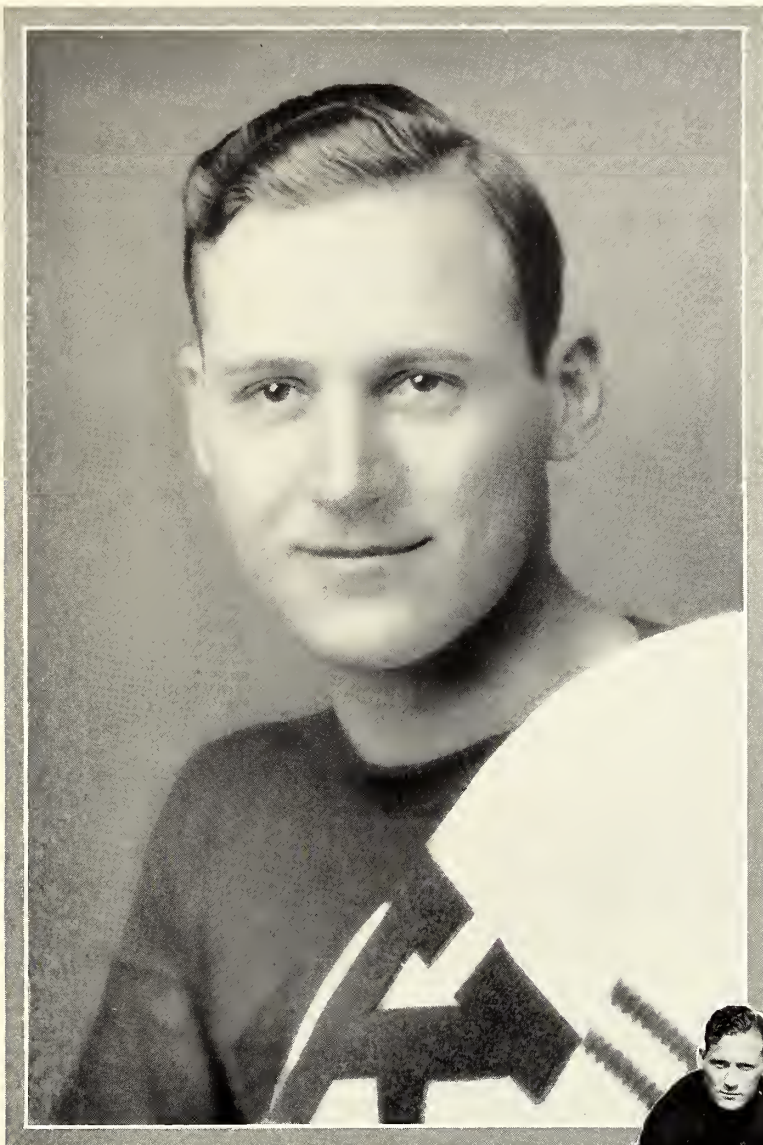

JAMES DOUGLASS
Football Captain, 1927

JAMES "JIM" DOUGLASS, short, hard-hitting fullback from Burlington, was chosen to captain the 1927 Wildcats at the annual banquet for letter-men at the close of the season.

Heavy and fast, he was always good for yardage on a straight smash, and with his speed was often able to convert his smashes into real runs, with the goal line as the stopping point.

Exceptional football ability and an amiable disposition brought Douglass the honor of being the first backfield man in several seasons to captain a Wildcat eleven.

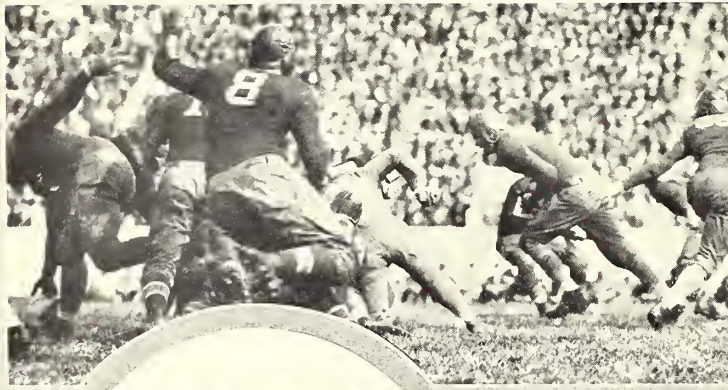

SIMON J. TOMBAUGH
Football Captain, 1926

IN THE game and before and after, "Si" brought athletic honor to K. S. A. C. for his work. His 200 pounds of aggressiveness brought him a place on the first All-Valley team of one newspaper and the second of another, and his conduct on and off the field brought commendation from coaches, officials and writers all over the Middle West.

Coming to Manhattan from Kansas City, Kansas, Tombaugh won a regular place at left guard his first year out for the varsity, was regular center his second year, and was outstanding as a right guard his third.

ELWYN FEATHER
Fullback

"Razorback"

Seventeen letter men brought gladness to the heart of Coach C. W. Bachman as he held his first practice of the year, two weeks before the game with the Longhorns of Texas University.

DON MEEK
Halfback

Reports of beef and brawn and speed began trickling to the outside world, and the Wildcats lived up to these in their opening 13 to 3 victory over the Texans.

Trailing 3-0 at the half, passes and one of Feather's smashes took the ball into enemy territory, and Edwards snuggled a pass from Holsinger safely in his arms over the goal line, the first touchdown of the season. Another fake, ending in a pass, brought the season touchdown in the last quarter, Enns to Holsinger.

ZURLINDEN PEARSON
Tackle

"Monk"

Wildcat purple helmets again were victorious, 12-0, the following Saturday, the victims being Creighton's Bluejays, at Omaha. Straight football, in which Douglass smashed and Brion tore great holes in the line, was all that was needed, and Kansas scouts had to leave without once seeing the heralded Wildcat passing attack in action.

October 16, 1926, should be marked with big red letters on all Wildcat calendars. Some 16,500 Kansans jammed Memorial Stadium for the state's annual classic between the University and the College, and the rest of the state camped at home by the radio.

The bands played and the Wampus Cats and Koo Kooos and Jay Janes did their stuff.

Holsinger started it when he scored on a short pass after a drive down the field early in the second quarter. Feather reeled off 43 yards right through the middle of the Kansas line for the second touchdown. Hoffman made a touchdown in the third quarter on three plays. He returned a punt to the 49-yard line, made 11 yards on the next play and 40 on the next. Douglass closed the scoring with a 24-yard sprint through the line in the final quarter, and the subs took up the burden, almost adding another touchdown.

Kansas passes found their way into Aggie arms. Zuber, mighty Kansas punter, found Cochrane even greater. Half the crowd was decidedly happy when it was all over. The other half stayed to visit or help celebrate, and then went silently back to Lawrence to wait for another year. The Wildcats made 14 first downs to Kansas' 3, and 276 yards from scrimmage to Kansas' 71.

Oklahoma nearly wrecked things at Norman by crossing the uncrossed Wildcat goal line in about four minutes, and then kicking a field goal and earning two points on a safety. With the score 12 to 0, the Wildcats smashed to a touchdown in three minutes of the second half. A second touchdown in the fourth quarter tied the score, but the goal was missed. With a minute to play Huston came on the field, leisurely got ready, and from the 25-yard line kicked the ball over the cross-bar and the crowd back home into hysterics.

Arkansas brought a fighting, well-coached team to Manhattan, and found the Wildcats minus five halfbacks. Edwards ran half the length of the field for a touchdown when he recovered an Arkansas fumble punt. Arkansas scored on a long pass, but a touchdown by Hammond and a 45-yard drop kick by Cochrane iced the thing. Hamler, Householder, Hammond, and Smerchek, all non-letter men, showed up well. The game was the fifth victory for the Purple in five starts, and the third victory in an inter-sectional game.

Marquette's "Golden Avalanche" gave the Wildcats a wonderful welcome, handed them the keys to Milwaukee, and then gave them their first and worst beating of the year, 14 to 0. Far away from home, before a big crowd, the team seemed to go stale. On the first play Marquette intercepted a Wildcat pass for a touchdown. Aggie punts fell short, and passes went wild. Two scoring threats failed when near the goal line. Marquette took sweet revenge for the beating handed them at Milwaukee the year before, and the Wildcats took—a long trip.

Nebraska at Lincoln was next, with what looked like a valley title at stake, but the valley title was drowned out in a rainstorm which started just as the Wildcats seemed to be started toward their first victory over Nebraska, and ended some time later—after Stephens had booted a water-soaked ball over the crossbar for a 3-0 Husker victory.

Six times the Wildcats tried field goals—and six times they missed, while Stephens' one attempt was enough. As far as statistics go, play was about even, if floundering about in a cloudburst may be called play. Twenty thousand spectators sat through the flood, those from Kansas praying the moisture would sprout wings on some one so that the all-important touchdown could be made. Then the long drive home through the mud.

Iowa State at Manhattan wrote an anticlimactic end to the season. After the wonderful spirit of the Nebraska mud battle the Wildcats went dead again, with the exception of Feather, who nearly won the game single handed. Ames came keyed up to win, and did, a field goal proving enough when it was decided that the last smash of Feather's lone-hand drive in the last quarter was not quite over the goal line. Ames at this stage of things presented the Wildcats with a safety, the ceremony of which consumed the remaining seconds of the game.

Ten Wildcats played their last valley football against Ames. They were Tombaugh, Krysl, Reed, Cochrane, Feather, Meek, Brion, Z. Pearson, Ehrlich, and Huston. Of these the first six were three-letter men, while Huston, holder of the valley drop-kick record, earned his fourth "K," his war letter not counting in valley competition.

Only four conference games were played, as Missouri broke a contract which called for a game at Manhattan, in return for the game at Columbia in 1925.

Viewed from the standpoint of attendance and receipts at games, the 1926 season was by far the most successful in the history of K. S. A. C., the attendance being about 70,000 at all games, as compared with 50,000 the year before.

Twenty-six football letters were given, which leaves 16 men eligible to return next fall, in addition to the 24 freshmen numeral men.

Four points separated the 1926 eleven from a valley title—three made by Nebraska and one by Ames. Only one valley team, Oklahoma, was able to cross the Wildcat goal line.

To mention the individual stars of the team would be to mention the entire squad. The work of some few was recognized in All-Star selections appearing on the pages that follow, but to memory alone must be left the recalling of the great team and the great plays of 1926. Cold print may record the scores and the final standings, but to memory is left the "Jay-Ray" and the "Rock-Chalk" of the Kansas game, the thrill of Huston's kick, and the watery Water-loo that was Nebraska.

It has not been many seasons since the Wildcats were playing behind a picket fenced field over next to Anderson avenue. Not so many years before that since the team used the field at Eighth and Bluemont for a battle ground. Back in 1906 about 1,200 people saw the Wildcat play the Jayhawk—and the crowd broke all records at that.

Thirteen years or so in the Missouri Valley Conference have brought great changes in K. S. A. C. athletic equipment and in K. S. A. C. athletics. Back in 1906 "Mike" Ahrean coached about all the athletics there were and taught horticulture on the side—or vice versa. A victory over Washburn was regarded as quite an unusual feat, and the occasion for a great celebration.

Thirteen years in the Valley have brought the stadium—the new baseball field—Nichols gymnasium as it now is—new equipment and other things of a material nature to K. S. A. C. athletics. And they also have brought new faces to Wildcat athletics—and familiar ones back again. With the recall of "Mike" Ahearn to the headship of the athletic department and the hiring in 1920 of Charley Bachman as football mentor K. S. A. C. began to find itself in the Valley sun.

Recent progress is best summarized by a news report published last winter which showed that although K. S. A. C. has won no Valley major sport titles in the past five years a summary of both major and minor sport activities engaged in by Valley schools over the period shows her to have the best all around competitive record.

Nichols Gym Court

WITH the coming of C. W. Corsaut to Kansas State in 1923 the triad of "permanents" in K. S. A. C. athletics was rounded out. "Charley Bach" "Mike" Ahearn and "Charley" Corsaut seem as much of the permanency of Wildcat athletics to the Aggie of the past four years as does Memorial Stadium or Nichols gymnasium.

Corsaut came to Manhattan the season after having coached Kansas City, Kansas, high to a national title. He took a last place team from the year before and put it into a tie for fourth. The next season it was third. In 1926 it finished in a tie for second.

The season just past saw the team off to a whirlwind start. Ineligibilities, scarlet fever, and unusually high-powered competition kept the record at a fifty-fifty split, the team winning one from every team but Kansas and losing one to every team but Ames.

Lack of adequate reserve material has handicapped Corsaut all through his career at Manhattan, nowhere showing up so strongly as in the second torrid battle with Kansas, in which a "stream" of fresh men finally won from the crippled, battling Aggies. In four seasons, the Aggies have defeated every valley team at least once, and never finished with less than .500 per cent.

Next season holds great promise, with four letter men and an outstanding freshman varsity. The 1927 campaign was outstanding if for no other reasons than the two-point victory over the national championship Hillyards, the repayment of those two Oklahoma defeats, and two scorching, heart-breaking, glorious battles with the University, both of them losses—but both basket ball par-excellence—basket ball as it is played in Kansas.

All-Valley Fives

WHEN the last whistle of the 1927 Missouri Valley Basket Ball Campaign had been whistled, sports writers and coaches immediately got busy, as usual, to pick all-star teams of the conference. The principal selections recognized as having "standing" are those of the Kansas City Star, the Kansas City Journal-Post, and the Associated Press, all the selections being combinations of the opinions of coaches and officials. Two of these three selections are printed below. All include various Wildcats.

It is also worthy of note that C. A. "Lefty" Byers, Wildcat senior forward, was placed in the second All-Western five, being the only Valley conference man to be mentioned in the selections. Byers was second high scorer of the valley, his 125 points in conference games being one point behind the 125 of Peterson of K. U.

A. R. "MONK" EDWARDS
Basket Ball Captain
1927-1928

IT IS not often in Missouri Valley athletic history that the same man leads a major sport team through two successive seasons of competition. In selecting "Monk" Edwards, guard and captain in 1927, for the 1928 captaincy, the basket ball team paid a fitting tribute to an outstanding athlete. A basket ball and baseball star and a footba'l letterman his sophomore year, "Monk" rose to stardom in all three fields during the past campaigns.

He was given honorable mention on the all-star football selections, was guard on the second All-Valley in basket ball, and one of the most colorful players in the conference, swats a mean baseball, stays eligible all the time—and is working his way through school. That's a mark for the freshmen to shoot at!

Basket Ball

ELMER MERTEL

MISSOURI VALLEY conference basket ball in 1927 was of the type that causes the professional dopest to grow long and gaunt and develop hollow circles under the eyes trying to guess right for once during the season.

Kansas University, five times champion, started the season by being right royally bumped for two games, and the rest of the Valley sat back and chortled. Later, the Jayhawks reversed the laugh, but not until half the conference had led the pack from time to time.

The Kansas State team, doped to be of average calibre, started off as if championship bound. St. Marys, at St. Marys, proved an aid in developing an offense, but also found holes in the Wildcat defense, scoring the most points that have been made against the Aggies since Corsaut has been coaching them—38—while the Wildcats made 44, the affair being in the nature of basket practice for both teams.

At Manhattan, the Saints were much easier or the Wildcats much better, the count being 35 to 16.

Corsaut took his five back to his home town December 30, and gave a scientific basket ball lesson to the Kansas Wesleyan team, 43 to 22.

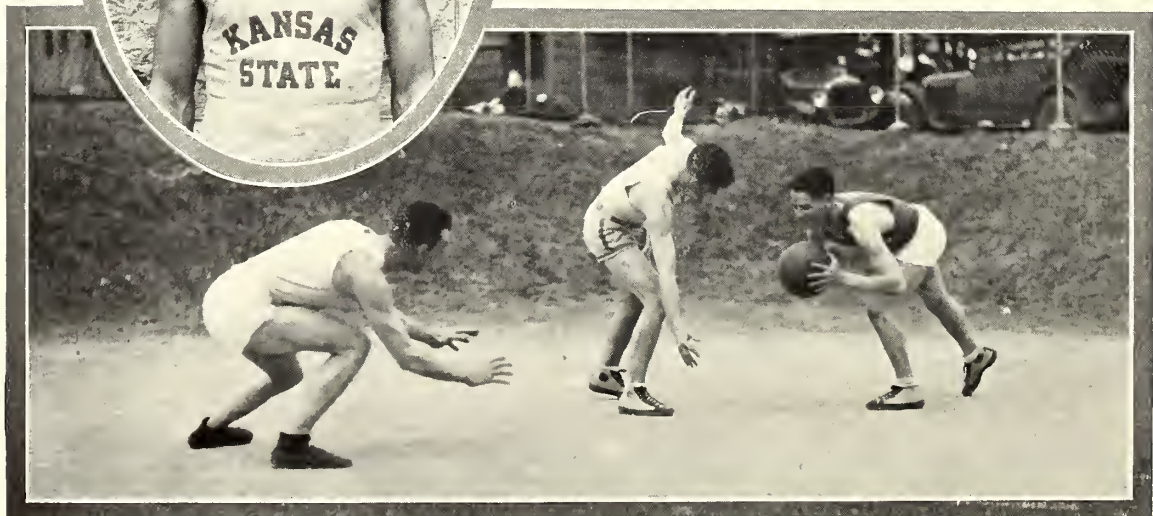

A. R. EDWARDS
Guard

From the Kansas conference to the national championship Hillyard team almost proved a stumbling-block, but when the whistle stopped things, Kansas State was ahead of the Chemical five, at St. Joseph, 30 to 28.

Running the string of victories to five straight, the Wildcats won their first Valley start in a rough battle at Lincoln, defeating Nebraska 34 to 23, January 7.

Creighton proved bad medicine for the second season, and after playing to a tie score during the regular period, the Wildcats lost, 39 to 33, in the play-off, thereby soothing the ruffled feathers of the Blue Jay for the easy Aggie football victory earlier in the year.

Iowa State and Drake found the team doing its stuff in great shape on the home court. Ames went down, 31 to 24, and defeated K. U. the next night. Drake was walloped, 45 to 17, and took it out on Nebraska. The Wildcats were leading the Valley in percentage, and in offensive and defensive play, with "Lefty" Byers leading the individual scorers. Everything, in other words, was breaking very nicely for Edwards and company.

Then the game with the K. C. A. C., in Kansas City, when the Blue Diamonds refused to take the count, as expected, which made it painfully necessary for the Wildcats to do so—the sad story being 30 to 27. Too much Proudfit.

Oklahoma A. and M. kept its record of not losing a game on its home court, and the Wildcats lost, 29 to 21, following that catastrophe with a 35-to-20 loss to Oklahoma the following night.

Kansas University added another drab touch by taking home a 35-to-34 game from Manhattan, though the 3,000 odd who cheered and screamed and prayed and then sat tense through that epic battle could have no fault to find with either team. It was just basket ball—and K. U. got the last good shot in a game in which the lead went back and forth bewilderingly.

Smaha, of Nebraska, was the villain of the next game. All through the game the Wildcats led, until the last minute, when Smaha's basket tied the score. Then—the timer's gun was in the air—and Smaha snatched, pivoted, and shot. "He did it," yelled the only Nebraska rooter in the crowd, who fell over the scorer's bench as he jumped onto the floor.

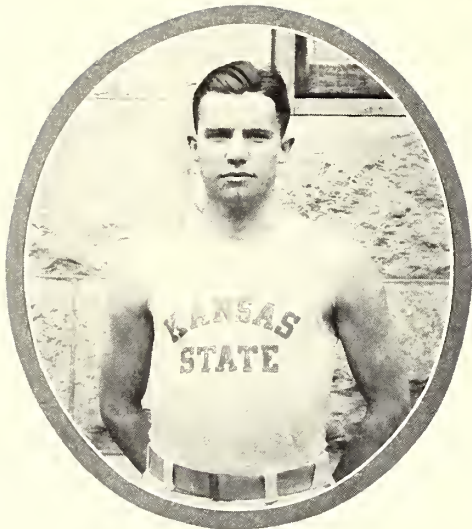

Oklahoma A. and M. brought a lightning fast five to Manhattan, but all their speed did not match Wildcat sharpshooting. The result—a 33-to-30 victory.

Oklahoma University followed their brethren from Stillwater, and suffered a like fate, the score being 29 to 19.

A last road trip into Iowa brought an unexpected defeat at the hands of Iowa State in a roughly played game, 36 to 23. The story at Drake the following night was reversed, the Wildcats winning a clean, fast contest, 39 to 10.

Another "one for the book" with Kansas U. at Lawrence closed the season. The usual band and cheer leader and tense spirit were there.

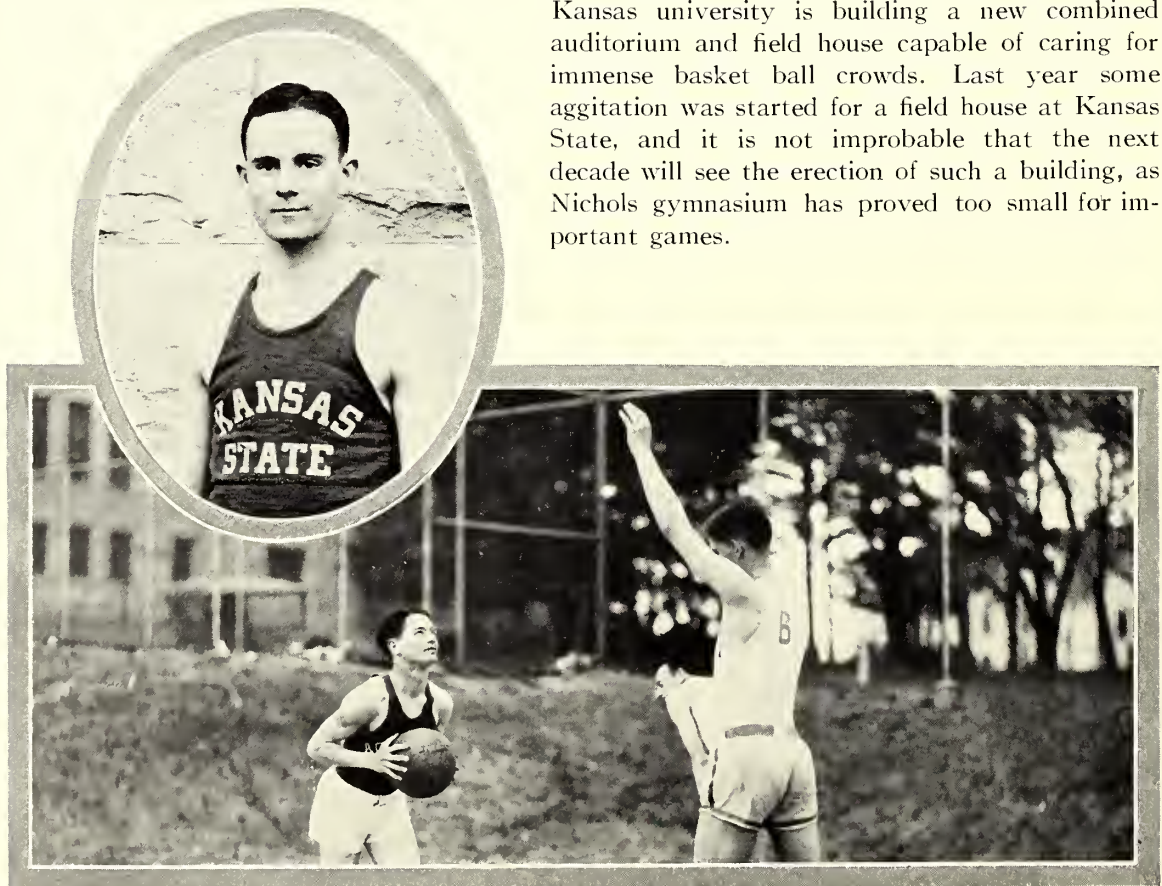

The Wildcats led up to the half, when a desperate basket gave Kansas a point lead. As the second half started the Wildcats did likewise, running up three baskets before the Jawhawk could get to functioning. Newland came to the K. U. rescue, and finally Gordon flung a one-sided freak that even Byers couldn't match, though he had valiantly flung shot for shot with the whole

K. U. team all evening. Superior K. U. reserve strength and the loss of Mertel on fouls told in the last minute, when Kansas got two baskets and iced the game. Thus for a second time in the season the great university team won the basket ball classic of the state from the Wildcat team which was also great in defeat.

Basket ball has achieved great popularity with mid-western schools especially in recent seasons, so great that college gymnasiums built a few years ago are not large enough to hold the crowds of today. Nebraska university already has met the new demand with a field house, and Kansas university is building a new combined auditorium and field house capable of caring for immense basket ball crowds. Last year some agitation was started for a field house at Kansas State, and it is not improbable that the next decade will see the erection of such a building, as Nichols gymnasium has proved too small for important games.

Freshman Basket Ball

FRESHMAN basket ball practice was started well before the varsity season began, in order that a freshman varsity might be developed capable of giving the Wildcats real training for their Missouri Valley games. Working under Coach Frank Root, the red jersied "frosh" developed the best first year team that has been turned out in the past four years.

Numerals were given at the end of the season to 10 men, and from that number several varsity squad members are expected for next fall. After the regular season was over, the freshman varsity worked out with the regular varsity for a time, in order to adapt themselves somewhat to the style of play used by Coach C. W. Corsaut.

PAUL ANTELL
Track Captain

ANTELL was at his best either as a two-miler in individual competition or as a half-miler on the two-mile relay team. He made his first letter as a member of the Valley championship cross-country team, and followed it up in the spring with a track letter.

A bad ankle kept him out of cross-country during the fall of 1926, but the 1927 campaign found him in perhaps the best shape of his college career, though most of his performances were connected with the work of the two-mile relay team. A pleasing personality combined with real track ability made him a fitting leader for the Wildcat cinder men.

A MISSOURI VALLEY track star from his first to his last race, "Kimpy" was one of those consistent performers so highly esteemed by track coaches and college track followers. He was always good for a first in either the half or mile in a dual meet, and frequently in both, not to mention an occasional two-mile. In 1925 he set a new conference indoor mile record, and in 1926 again won the indoor mile, though he failed to equal his own mark. With the exception of the national meet in Chicago last spring, his final race under K. S. A. C. colors, he never ran a college race in which he failed to place. Thousands of K. S. A. C. students will long remember the thrill of seeing him come down the last stretch to break the tape a yard ahead of the next best in the valley.

Varsity Track

PAUL GARTNER

THE 1926 track season was on the whole successful though Kansas State competition was an up and down affair, now winning where it was not "doped" to have a chance, and then losing when favored to win.

At the annual K. C. A. C. indoor meet in Kansas City the two-mile relay team won first, the team consisting of Moody, Sallee, Axtell, and Kimport. Phil Carter also was second in the pole vault.

At the Missouri Valley indoor held at Ames, the Wildcats upset all predictions by taking second with $19\frac{1}{2}$ points, while Nebraska was running away with the meet with $36\frac{3}{4}$ and Missouri trailed third with $16\frac{3}{4}$, K. U. being only a half-point behind the Tigers. Captain Kimport won the mile in 4:34, and L. E. Moody the half in 2:02 $\frac{3}{5}$. Sallee and McGrath ran two and three in the two-mile, Fairchild was third in the low hurdles, and Carter tied for fourth in the pole vault.

The mile relay team won its heat, but was third in the group when time was figured.

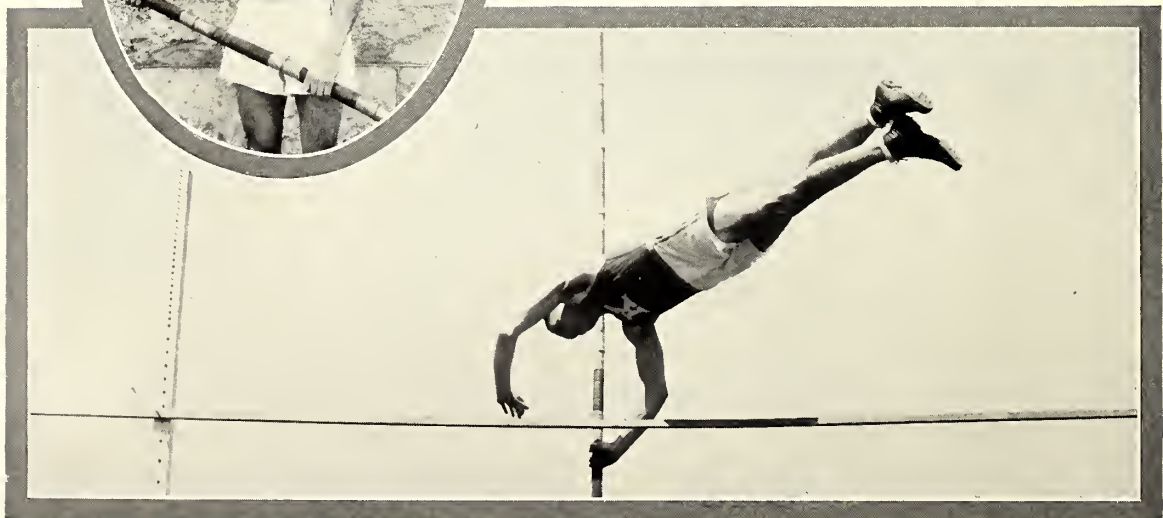

The Illinois relays at Urbana, late in February, found the two-mile relay team in top form, and it won its race, Kimport doing a last second sprint to win by a foot from the Northwestern University anchor man.

Carter was fourth in the pole vault, with a leap of 11 feet 6 inches. The relay time was 8 minutes, 7 $\frac{1}{5}$ seconds, Moody, Axtell, McGrath and Kimport running.

PHIL CARTER

The outdoor track season found the two-mile relay team undefeated, and it upheld this record in its first race, winning at the Texas relays and setting a new meet record of 7:58-4, with Illinois second and Haskell third. The Rice relays held the following day, however, found the team tired by its feat of the day before, and Haskell won the race with a time six seconds slower than that of the Wildcats at Texas. Phil Carter tied with five others for second at the Texas U. meet, but next day at the Rice meet cleared 12 feet for an undisputed second place.

At the Kansas relays in Lawrence the Haskell two-mile team again proved too much for the Wildcats, who were second in the event. Phil Carter rose, literally, to great heights in the pole vault with a leap of 13 feet to tie for first place, incidentally setting a new K. S. A. C. record.

Through a sea of mud and water at the Drake relays in Des Moines, the Wildcats ploughed to second place in the two-mile medley relay, and fourth in the four-mile relay. In the two-mile Moody ran the half, Gartner the quarter, Smerchek the second quarter, and Kimport the mile.

Kimport at anchor was able to pass Conger, of Ames, in the last few yards of the race, but a desperate effort failed to catch White, of Illinois, who won the race.

An outdoor triangular meet with Kansas and Nebraska, at Manhattan on May 7, proved a dismal failure so far as K. S. A. C. was concerned. Nebraska won the meet with $78\frac{1}{2}$ points, Kansas was second with 49 and Kansas State third with $35\frac{1}{2}$. A strong wind slowed down the time of Locke, Nebraska, who was "doped" to approach the world mark in the 100 and 220 dashes.

Phil Carter, with a leap of 12 feet 9 inches, won the pole vault. Gartner won the discus with a throw of 125 feet, 6 inches, and Moody took the third and last K. S. A. C. first by winning the half-mile in 2:17-10. Perhaps the greatest surprise of the afternoon came when both Ross and Johnson of Nebraska forged ahead of Kimport in the mile, the time being 4:38. Fairchild was third in the high hurdles, Zurbuchen tied for third in the high jump, Pearson was second in the shot, Sallee second in the two-mile, Gartner third in the low hurdles, and Hinkle third in the discus.

As a feature of the annual Missouri Valley Interscholastic meet on Stadium field the K. S. A. C. and Haskell two-mile teams, bitter rivals all season, ran a dual affair. Moody led by a yard or so at the end of his heat, and Smerchek lost a little of that distance. McGrath, third runner, finished almost in a dead-heat with his man, which left Kimport to battle it out with Whitebird. As the last half lap started the Haskell men were ahead, but on the turn Kimport pulled up even, and at the finish broke the tape first by six inches or so.

The Missouri Valley meet at Lincoln found the team in a slump, and only two men placed, Kimport getting second in the half-mile and Carter fourth in the pole vault.

Carter, Moody and Kimport were sent to the National Inter-collegiate at Chicago in June, but failed to place.

1927 TRACK

The 1927 track season started with the mile relay team winning a first at the K. C. A. C. indoor meet in Kansas City; setting a new record in the process. Moody, Brockway, Smerchek and Gartner ran in 3 minutes 29 2-10 seconds. Virgil Fairchild was third in the high hurdles against a fast field, and H. B. "Tex" Ryon, a freshman, was second in the quarter-mile run.

At the Illinois relays at Urbana the two-mile relay team ran third with Haskell and Northwestern finished first and second. Smerchek, Axtell, McGrath and Moody were on the placing team.

A dual indoor meet with Nebraska on March 5 netted the Huskers $70\frac{3}{4}$ points to the Wildcats $34\frac{1}{4}$.

Virgil Fairchild was first in the high and low hurdles and high-point man of the meet. Moody won the half, with McGrath third, and was second in the mile, with McGrath third. Burton finished in a three-way tie for first in the high jump, and the mile relay team won its race. Axtell with a second in the two-mile and Gartner with a second in the quarter were the other Aggies to place. Nebraska made a clean sweep in the 50-yard dash, pole vault, and broad jump, but the showing of the Wildcats in first and second places was decidedly encouraging.

Oklahoma surprised the Valley by winning the indoor at Ames with $27\frac{1}{2}$ points, with Nebraska a point behind and Ames third with 26 points. Kansas was fourth with 16 1-5, Missouri fifth with 12 1-5, and Kansas State sixth with 8 points. Moody was second in the half-mile run and the mile relay team was first, with Moody, Brockway, Smerchek and Gartner running.

The Texas relays, first outdoor meet of the season, found the two-mile relay team placing second to Ames, while the mile relay team was fourth, but at the same time set a new school record of 3 minutes, 23 1-10 seconds. At the Rice relays next day the two-mile team again was second, and Paul Gartner was second in the low hurdles after running in almost a dead-heat with his Texas opponent. The first day the two-mile relay team consisted of Axtell, McGrath, and Moody, and the second day of McGrath, Gartner, Smerchek, Axtell and Moody. McGrath, Smerchek, Moody and Gartner ran the mile relay.

Other meets scheduled for the 1927 season included the Kansas relays April 23, at Lawrence, the K. U.-K. S. A. C.-Nebraska triangular at Manhattan, the Drake relays at Des Moines, April 29 and 30, and the Valley outdoor at Lincoln, May 20 and 21.

The Missouri Valley Interscholastic meet, greatest of the high school meets of the mid-west outside of the national held in Chicago, also is held annually in the K. S. A. C. stadium, the 1927 meet being set for May 21.

Last year one world's interscholastic record was broken at the Valley Interscholastic, while several meet records were surpassed.

Ralph Kimport, captain of track in 1926, acted as assistant to Head Coach C. W. Bachman this spring, and made the trips to the various relay meets in his place. At the Kansas relays the two-mile team again came in second to Iowa State, and at the Drake relay meet the team was third, Iowa State winning as usual while Chicago nosed into second place.

This spring a system was proposed whereby freshmen equaling or surpassing certain stated marks at least twice during the college year will be given class numerals, corresponding to those given freshmen basket ball and football men in recognition of their work. The giving of track numerals will, it is believed, encourage freshmen athletes to train and keep up their interest in the sport until their sophomore year, and thus provide much better varsity track material. Under the system used in the past no provision has been made for track numerals, although a freshman might win an athletic "K" by breaking a college record. First-year men also have been allowed to compete in various relay meets and invitation meets, but as unattached individuals and not representatives of their college.

Telegraphic dual meets with other valley track freshmen also have been used in the effort to keep up the interest of first-year men, which always has shown a tendency to lag because of lack of opportunity to perform under competitive conditions.

Cross-Country

M. L. SALLEE
Captain

KANSAS STATE cross-country teams have a remarkable competitive record in Missouri Valley circles. In the past three years the team has lost only one race, which was at the Valley meet in Lawrence last fall. There Iowa State took first place and the Wildcats second, thus relinquishing the Valley title which had been in Manhattan for two years.

In nearly every Missouri Valley meet in recent years Iowa State and Kansas State teams have battled it out for the Valley championship.

At the end of the season letters were awarded to L. E. Moody, Ogden; A. E. McGrath, Paola; Ralph E. Kimport, Norton; Temple Winburn, De Kalb; and Captain M. L. Sallee, Long Island.

1927 Baseball Squad

EIGHT letter-men were present and eligible for the 1927 baseball season when Coach Corsaut first hustled his men out for a practice on the Nichols Gymnasium floor. Rain retarded spring workouts a little, but the team was in good enough shape, with Hayes pitching, to defeat St. Marys, Kansas conference champions, 11 to 5 in the opener. The first four Valley conference games were to have been with Missouri and Washington away from home, but wet grounds forced their abandonment, leaving 12 conference tilts to be played.

The Missouri Valley season was opened with a 4-0 victory over the Oklahoma Aggies, with Hayes pitching.

THE 1927 SCHEDULE

April 2—Kansas State 11, St. Marys 5, at St. Marys

CLAY W. BRION
Baseball Captain
1927

AN OLD hand at the baseball game, "Judge" leaves little to be desired as team captain. Rangy, cool and possessed of a line of talk that is strength to the Wildcat pitcher and poison to his opponent, he covers first base and all the territory thereabout in a manner calculated to please the most exacting fan, and in addition gets his hits when they are needed.

Brion is playing his third year at first base for the Wildcats, and also has two football letters. Baseball is his first love, however.

RALPH M. KARNS
1926

THERE may have been baseball players in the Missouri Valley as good as "Shorty," but there were none better. He covered shortstop and frequently second, third, the box, and home-plate. No ball was too hard hit or too well placed to keep him from trying for it, and he robbed many an opponent of what looked like a sure hit.

With the bat he was equally deadly, and had many pitchers beaten before he stepped up the plate. An experienced ball player, he had the faculty of hitting when hits meant ball games.

The Season

L. L. MARSH
Pitcher

FROM the first game of the season, when Kansas U. turned back the Wildcats 7 to 4 on the home lot, to the final affair, when Kansas State slammed the ball all over the park in Lawrence to win 11 to 7, the Wildcat share in the Missouri Valley baseball race was highly interesting. Though Oklahoma pulled through with the championship, the Wildcats had the satisfaction of winning one game from everybody in the conference, including the Sooners, and of holding the big end of the honors against Missouri and the Oklahoma Aggies. A game which was voluntarily forfeited to Kansas after being won brought the season's record to an even break with Valley teams.

Leslie "Tarzan" Marsh started the first game for the Wildcats against the Jayhawk. His mates presented him with three runs in the first and another in the second, but in the fifth Kansas celebrated when Wall tripled with the bases full and tied the score on a single. Another K. U. run in the seventh and two in the ninth, off Snyder, made it a sad, sad story.

Next day Wildcat fielding was of a much more potent variety, while the batsmen smacked the ball all over the park. Miller singled in the first, went to second on Meek's sacrifice, and scored when Karns slashed a double. Edwards scored on Smith's sacrifice in the second after getting a freak triple, and also made the third and winning run in the seventh after a series of K. U. errors and a smash by Miller. Byers was the winning pitcher, and the score 3 to 2.

Byers got credit for two victories over Missouri, 5 to 4 and 5 to 2, though Marsh pitched the first nine innings of the first, going out with the score knotted at 4-all. Missouri led in the first

4 to 2, until the last half of the ninth, when three Wildcats singled and Smith smacked a double to tie it up.

Meek's tenth-inning hit obligingly rolled under an automobile, so that he got to third, and scored on Cunningham's bunt.

The Wildcats were ahead all the way in the second game, a grandstand catch by "Monk" Edwards and a snappy double play that ended the ball game, Meek to Karns to Brion, being the features.

Ragged fielding and heavy hitting marked the next game at home, which the Oklahoma Ags won 11 to 7, with Snyder, Marsh and Pucelik all doing mound duty.

The Wildcats won the second 5 to 4 when Edwards hit a screamer down the third-base line in the last of the tenth with three on and one out. Byers was the winning pitcher, it being his fourth consecutive victory.

Oklahoma Aggies were victims again, 8 to 1, this time at Stillwater, with Byers pitching. The Wildcats got two runs in the first, four in the eighth, and two in the ninth. Captain Karns got a home run and a good time was had by all.

Bad weather stopped the next game, and the Wildcats went to Norman, losing a tight game to Oklahoma 3 to 2. Again bad weather stopped the second game, and the two teams adjourned until the Sooners came to Manhattan. Here the Oklahomans got 6 runs off seven hits and held the Aggies scoreless, incidentally smashing Byers' winning record all to little bits.

Chet Havley and Gilman rose to great heights next day. With Oklahoma ahead 1 to 0 in the fifth, Havley came to bat and got his second hit of the entire year, a home run. Gilman was next up, and smacked one across the car tracks for another home run. Not to be outdone, Havley came up in the seventh and got his third hit of the season—another home run, the final score being 3 to 1. Marsh got credit for the victory, his first of the Valley season.

Two games with Kansas at Lawrence closed the Valley season. The Wildcats were out-hit in the first game, and lost 3 to 9. In the second they played considerably better ball in the field and were victorious in a free-hitting bee, the final count after the noise of the bats died down being 11 to 7. Byers pitched the first game of the series and Marsh the second.

At the close of the season eleven letters were awarded squad members as follows:

M. B. Miller, catcher; C. W. Brion, first base; Don Meek, second base; Captain Ralph Karns, shortstop; L. H. Smith, third base; C. A. Byers, pitcher; L. L. Marsh, pitcher; C. W. Havley,

At Kansas State baseball fills a genuine need on the sports calendar, as there are never more than two home track meets a season, and baseball has always proved highly popular with the Wildcat crowds. Inability to collect admission fees has been partially responsible for the failure of baseball to take care of itself financially, though building the new diamond has partially solved that problem, taking play away from the public city park.

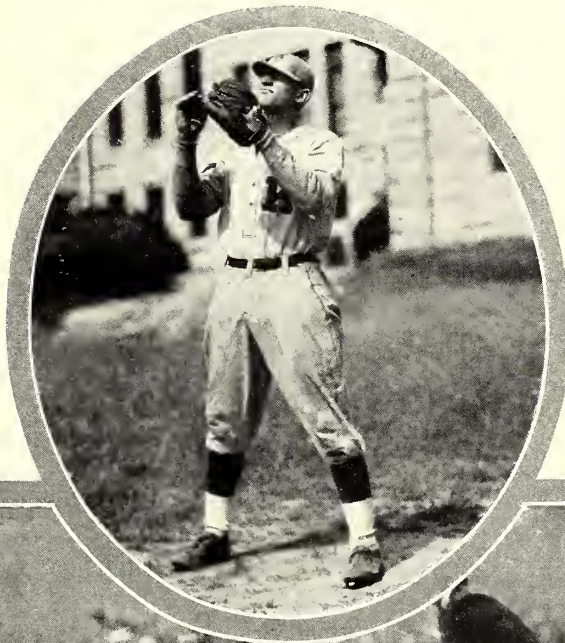

In spite of a day fit more for football than for baseball nearly the entire bleacher capacity was filled at the first game of the 1927 season with the Oklahoma Aggies. With no other teams performing within traveling distance of Manhattan during the college season, both Manhattan and K. S. A. C. must look to the Wildcat varsity for the eagerly awaited first games of the national pastime each spring.

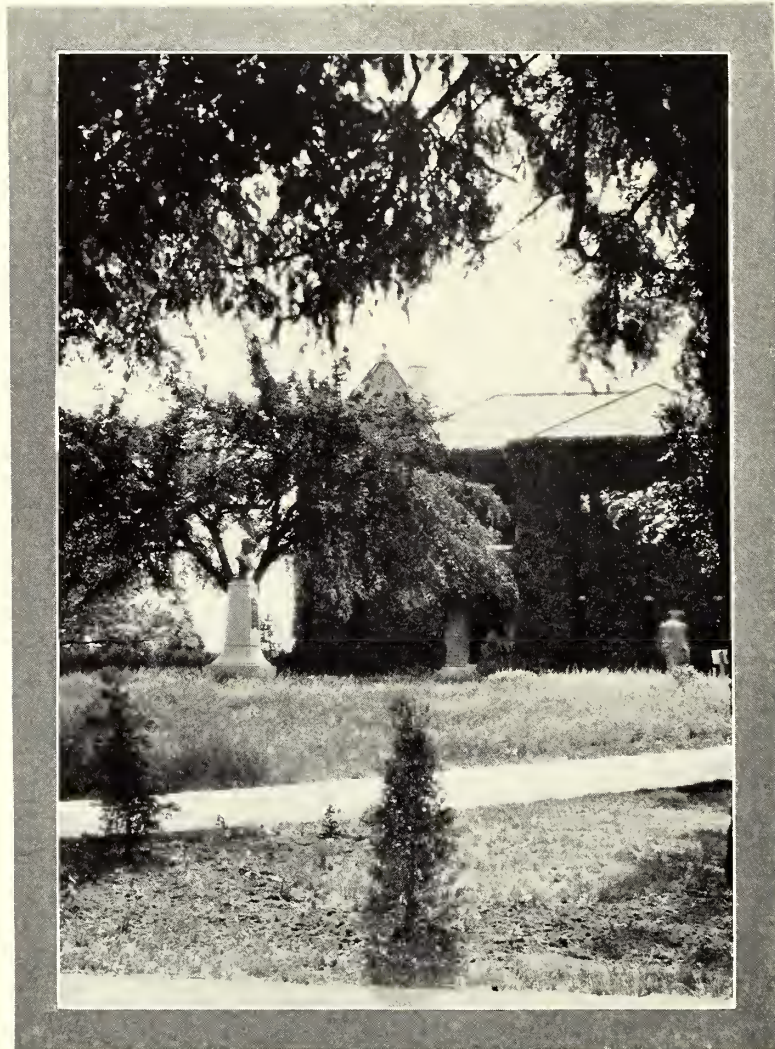

A red letter day on the college calendar annually is the one on which the bleachers are set up outside after a winter on the basket ball court—the crowd assembles and begins to munch peanuts—and Umpire Hurley or Umpire Whoeverhemaybe announces the “Batteries for today—” and finally those magic words, “Play Ball!”

MINOR SPORTS

Boxing

GERALD NORTHRIP
Coach

THE Kansas State boxing team, champions of the Missouri Valley in 1925-26 by virtue of wins over Ames and Kansas, earned a rather hollow claim to the 1927 title by being the only team supported by a Valley school, Ames and Kansas both having abandoned boxing as a minor sport.

The only match of the season was with Notre Dame at Manhattan. At Notre Dame in 1926 the Aggies were victorious, but the Fighting Irish reversed things in seven furious battles at Manhattan by winning four to the Aggies three.

Letters were awarded to John Coleman, Wichita, 145-pound class; C. R. Omar, Mankato, 175-pound class, and M. B. Pearson, Manhattan, heavy-weight, the three having won their matches against Notre Dame.

The squad was coached by Gerald Northrip, formerly of Oklahoma A. & M., assisted by Frank Prentup. Members of the squad, in addition to the letter-men, were Captain F. T. Rose, Kansas City, 135-pound class; Louis Bailey, Manhattan, 125-pound class; L. H. Davies, Manhattan, 158-pound class, and H. S. Germann, Little Rock, 115-pound class.

The Notre Dame meet was a bitterly contested affair, with nearly every decision very close. Captain Rose lost by only a shade to his opponent, the vote of the judges being split, with the referee deciding. Though K. S. A. C. is the only remaining Valley school to sponsor boxing as a minor sport it has proved consistently popular in Manhattan. About 1,500 persons saw the Notre Dame matches, and large crowds attended all the intramural boxing events.

Wrestling

INTER-COLLEGIATE wrestling was taken up on an extensive scale for the first time during 1926-27. The K. S. A. C. team competed in 10 dual meets, and though all of them were lost, much good material was developed for next season, and a great deal of interest was created in the sport. The team underwent considerable improvement during the season, as shown by scores of the first and second meets against Oklahoma, Nebraska and Kansas.

Letters were awarded to Walter Hinz, Abilene; C. N. Hinkle Lenora; John Richardson, Dodge City; Clarence Crews, Elk Falls; R. Paynter, Manhattan; S. M. Fraser, Talmage; Hugh Abernathy, Manhattan; Wayne McCaslin, Osborne, and Myron Reed, Norton.

Ralph Schopp, Abilene; E. F. Hubbard, Linwood, and L. E. Melia, Ford, competed in dual meets but did not win a match, which is required before a letter can be awarded. The team was coached by Gerald Northrip, with Ben Pubois, formerly of the Oregon Aggies, assisting.

Tennis

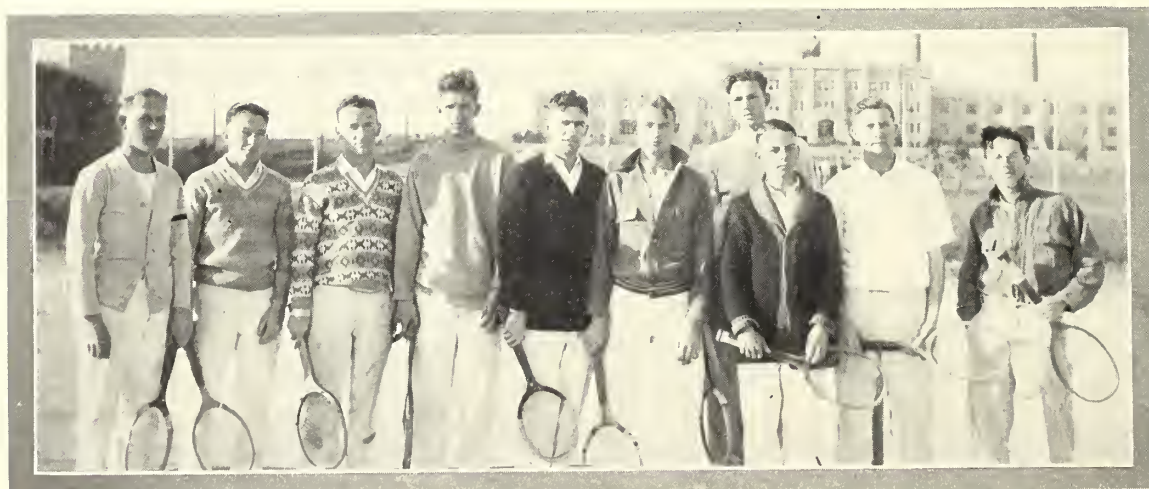

AFTER several disastrous seasons Kansas State tennis promises to rise up to the average level of Missouri Valley competition this spring. Harold Lewis, Winfield, was appointed team captain and coach. Two years ago Lewis won the Kansas conference singles title while at Southwestern. Ten men reported out for the first practice, among them Ed Skradski, former Kansas City, Kan., high school star, and Leon Garnett, a member of the team which won the Fort Snelling R. O. T. C. doubles title last summer.

Skradski and Lewis made the first trip. Both singles and doubles were lost to Okla'oma university in a match played April 13, Skradski losing to Nason 6-2, 6-0 and Lewis losing to Royer 6-3, 6-2. The team lost the doubles 6-3, 11-9. Lewis defeated J. Lewis of Southwestern 4-6, 6-3, 6-4 April 18, but Skradski lost to Sterns 7-5, 7-5 and the team lost 6-8, 6-3, 6-2.

Golf

ONLY one match was played by the 1925-26 Kansas State golf team, a two-man team meeting Drake University on the Manhattan Country Club course. Joe Holsinger and Bob Osborne defeated the Drake team after a gruelling match 4 to 2. The Wildcat team made three points in the morning, but barely fought out of a tie in the afternoon by making one point to Drake's two. The match was 36 holes.

The 1926-27 golf team was organized as a four-man affair with Joe Holsinger as captain and Bob Osborne, Ben Remick and Dale Lott as the other team members. The first match, with St. Marys at Manhattan, was won easily 6 to 0, both Aggie pairs making 3 points.

The Kansas University four-man team was defeated in the second match on April 23 at Lawrence, 5 to 1.

Additional matches were scheduled for April 26, with St. Marys at St. Marys, with Kansas University at Manhattan, April 30, and with Baker University at Drake University in May.

Golf was recognized as a Valley minor sport for a time, but was dropped because of lack of interest. Several conference schools supported teams in the spring of 1927, however, and it is probable that the sport again will receive official recognition soon.

Intramurals

PROF. L. P. WASHBURN
Intramural Director

INTRAMURAL athletics fill a more important place in the program of the college than all varsity sports combined, furnishing a means of athletic activity for every student on the Hill who wishes to participate in a sport.

The chief justification of the emphasis now placed on the major sports, which allow competition on the part of only a limited number of students, is that the facilities and funds thus provided may be utilized for the physical betterment of all students at the college.

Kansas State carries on a very extensive men's intramural program, under the direction of Professor L. P. Washburn, of the physical education department. Each organization competing is a member of the Intramural Association.

A large cup is offered each year to the organization getting the greatest point total in all sports for the entire year. Cups also are given to the winners of the college basket ball, baseball and soccer tournaments, and the Panhellenic basket ball league. Medals are given individual members of winning teams, and individual winners in track, etc.

The intramural program includes handball, soccer, indoor and outdoor track, cross-country, horseshoes, tennis, baseball, swimming, wrestling, boxing, free-throw shooting and basket ball.

The 10 individuals having the highest point total at the end of the season are given intramural "K" sweaters, and the next 10 are awarded the "Ks" with the privilege of getting the sweaters.

The 1925-26 Intramural cup for all sports was won by Delta Tau Delta, which also won the track trophy, which includes all points made in both indoor and outdoor meets.

Organization championships during the year were won as follows:

Basket Ball—Beta Theta Pi
Baseball—Pi Kappa Alpha
Indoor Track—Lambda Chi Alpha

Outdoor Track—Delta Tau Delta
Swimming—Alpha Tau Omega

Eber Roush won the 1925 cross-country meet, George Bond the bicycle race, E. H. Bradley the basket ball free thrown, Harold Lewis the tennis singles and, W. B. Floyd and Harold Lewis the tennis doubles. Guy Huey was handball singles winner.

1926-1927 INTRAMURALS

The 1926-27 Intramural basket ball championship was won by the Independent Athletic Club, champions of the local fraternity and club division, who played the Sigma Nus, Pan-hellenic champions, in the finals for the college title.

The fall horseshoe pitching tournament, with more than 250 entries, was won in the singles by Lloyd Cassell of Sigma Phi Sigma; Paul Howard and H. Knouft were the doubles champions.

Independents—Basket Ball Champions

The tennis tournament had a record entry list in both singles and doubles. With Harold Lewis, 1926 champion, competing on the varsity and thus ineligible for intramurals, the tournament was left open for a "dark horse" to show his stuff.

Other results were as follows:

Basket Ball Free Throw

1. R. ALLBAUGH, Sigma Nu

Women's Gymnasium

AT THE end of the second year the course in physical education for women has proven very successful. Fifteen sophomores were enrolled in the course, and 30 freshmen. The junior year of the curricula will be offered in 1927-28, and the senior year the following semesters.

MISS RUTH MORRIS
Department Head

The new physical education course was introduced primarily through the efforts of Miss Ruth Morris, head of the women's department and a graduate of the University of Wisconsin course. The course is intended to train not only for the specialized work of teaching physical education, but also to give a well-rounded general education. Two years of elementary physical education work are required of all women students in the college.

Miss Morris is assisted by Miss Geneva Watson, a graduate of the University of Chicago; Miss Myra Wade, a graduate of Oberlin College, and Miss Ruth Trent, graduate assistant.

As department facilities are improved it is intended to add courses in rifle marksmanship, horseback riding, fencing, and soccer.

Intramural athletics and interclass athletics for women are carried on under the supervision of the department, and varsity teams selected from among the best players in each sport. A May Fete and a women's track meet are held on alternate years.

VAN ZILE HALL, first dormitory for women to be built at K. S. A. C., is the result of a movement started in 1919 to establish dormitories at the five state schools. In 1921, largely through the efforts of the Kansas Council of Women, a bill was passed, but the appropriations were not sufficient to provide each school with a dormitory. Kansas State offered to wait, allowing the other schools to build, with the understanding that the K. S. A. C. dormitory would be built later. It was not until the 1925 session of the legislature that the combined efforts of the Kansas Council, the A. A. U. W., and others were successful in getting the dormitory plan through.

The hall was named for Mrs. Mary Pierce Van Zile, Dean of Women, who was active in support of the project and in making the dormitory as completed an ideal college home.

The hall stands on an elevation in the northeast corner of the campus, the location being admirably suited to future improvements with drives, walks, trees and shrubs. Space for two other dormitory buildings, to be erected when the need for them is felt, was provided for in locating the building.

There are rooms for 127 girls in the building, nearly all being for two girls, though a few single rooms are provided.

SOCIAL activities at the dormitory are under the supervision of Mrs. Nina M. Rhoades, Social Director. The girls have their own organization for carrying on the usual business and social details, following in general the S. G. A. house rules, with others found convenient for dormitory use.

During the fall semester an open house was given to which all people of the state and college were invited. The spring party was at the hall on April 22.

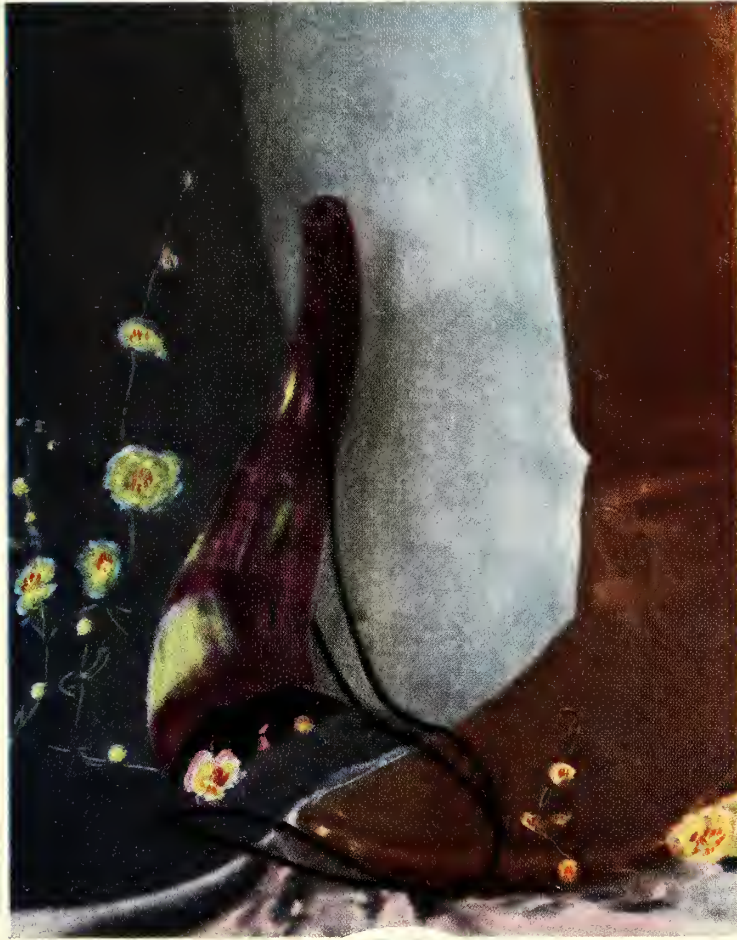

There is one main living room and several reception rooms for socials. The main social unit is the large lounge room, furnished with carved walnut pieces, two davenports, end tables, and a grandfather's clock with cathedral chimes, a gift of the local chapter of the American Association of University Women. There are two small parlors off each end of the lounge, and a large music room.

Recreation and guest rooms are provided on each floor.

THE Reserve Officers Training Corps is organized under the National Defense Act of 1920, and has for its purpose the qualifying of selected students at civil educational institutions as officers of the Organized Reserve. Students successfully completing both basic and advanced courses are offered commissions in the Officers Reserve Corps, acceptance of which is optional.

Two years of basic training are required of all male students at K. S. A. C. who are physically fit. Admission to the advanced course is on a scholastic and leadership basis. The K. S. A. C. department is organized into Infantry, Coast Artillery and Veterinary units, the total enrollment being about 1,200. All work is carried on under the direction of officers of the regular army, those stationed at K. S. A. C. during the past year being as follows:

LIEUTENANT-COLONEL J. M. PETTY
P. M. S. and T.

MAJOR C. D. PEIRCE

Cadet Staff Officers

C. N. BRESSLER, Cadet Colonel

APPOINTMENT as a staff officer of the cadet corps of nearly 1,200 men is one of the highest honors which the college can bestow.

Selection of a cadet colonel, lieutenant-colonel and two majors is made each year on the basis of scholarship as displayed in military department work, appearance and leadership, and all-around executive ability as displayed both in R. O. T. C. work and in all college activities.

It is customary the artillery and infantry units to alternate in furnishing the cadet colonel, the lieutenant-colonel coming from the branch not furnishing the colonel.

Standards were tightened up considerably in the advancement of cadet officers during the past year, and very few promotions were made. Selection of cadet staff officers was not made until some time after the beginning of the fall semester, in order to give the department officers time to confirm their selections by watching actual performances. Staff officers were selected as follows:

Honorary Staff Officers

EACH year it is the custom for the entire Kansas State Cadet Corps to elect an honorary cadet colonel as sponsor for the regiment, and an honorary major for each of the three drill battalions. The girls selected as honorary officers are the reigning "queens" of the annual Military Ball, and also review the regiment at the annual parade given in the spring.

Candidates for honorary staff positions were nominated by a committee of advanced R. O. T. C. officers, elected by the entire advanced course. Sixteen girls were nominated, it being the intention to provide, in addition to the four staff officers, a sponsor for each of the 12 cadet companies. Each member of the cadet corps was allowed to vote for four candidates, with no order of preference.

Results of the balloting were as follows:

MISS RUTH GLICK, Honorary Colonel

Honorary Cadet Colonel	MISS RUTH GLICK
Major First Battalion	MISS JANICE BARRY
Major Second Battalion	MISS DOROTHY STEVENSON
Major Third Battalion	MISS LUCILLE ROGERS

MISS ROGERS

MISS STEVENSON

MISS BARRY

The Cadet Officers

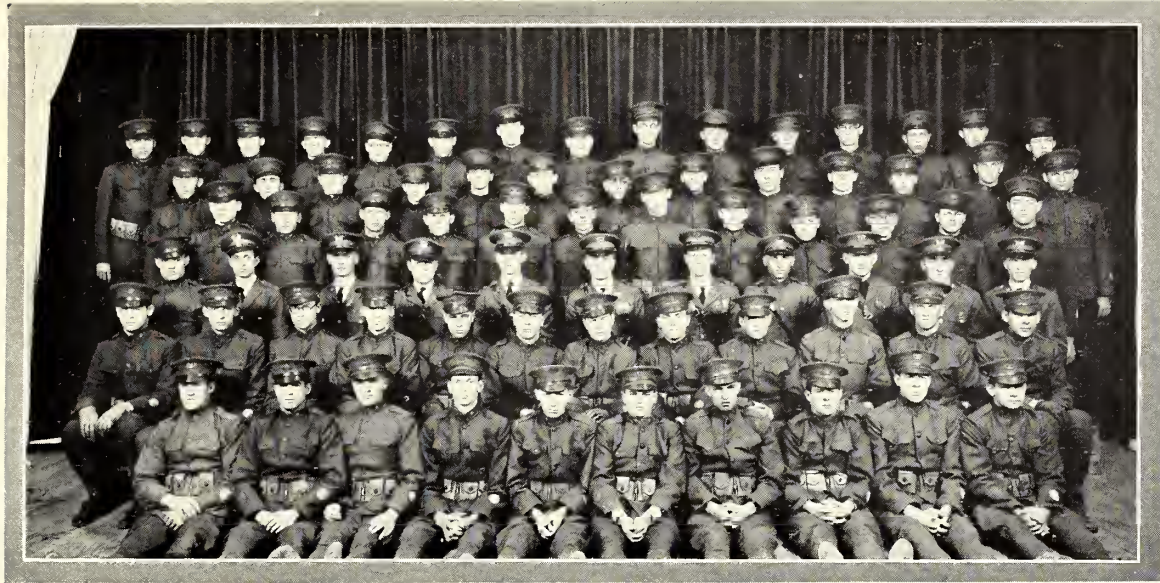

PRACTICALLY all of the handling of the Kansas State Cadet Corps of 1,200 men on the drill field is done by student cadet officers, who are being trained for membership in the Officers Reserve Corps after completing the required four years and summer camp. Cadet officers are paid for their services by the government, and furnished a uniform, in return for which they must attend to class periods a week and work as instructor in one drill period a week.

All work is under the supervision of a regular army officer, but the student officers are assigned to a unit for the duration of a semester, and are responsible for the training of that unit, thus putting into actual practice every day part of the classroom work. Upon satisfactory completion of four years of R. O. T. C. work and one summer camp, the student is eligible for admission to the Officers Reserve corps as a second lieutenant.

ONLY two experienced men were back at the start of the year when First Lieutenant R. E. McGarraugh, coach, started practice. They were Glen Koger, Herington, and W. S. Mayden, Manhattan. Mayden, team captain, was high-point man for the season. Glen Koger was second and C. M. Barber third. Six of the ten men awarded sweaters this season will be back for competition next year. The team placed seventh in the corps area match, out of eighteen teams entered, and fired intercollegiate matches with most of the collegiate rifle teams of the country.

THE American College Quill Club, national honorary society for writers, was organized at the University of Kansas in 1900. Membership is based on excellence in some kind of literary production. There are at present 10 chapters in the organization. The chapter was installed at Kansas State in 1914.

Membership contests are held each semester and meetings are held twice a month for the purpose of stimulating literary effort and criticism among the members.

The players have been fortunate in having as their director during the 1925-26 and 1926-27 seasons, H. M. Heberer, an untiring worker with a keen desire to present plays of good quality with a high degree of technical finish. Mr. Heberer is a graduate of the University of Illinois. In 1924-25, he was assistant to the head of the division of drama at that university, and since then has been with the K. S. A. C. public speaking department.

CUNNOCK PLAY CONTEST

"The Giant's Stair," presented by the Masque Players, won second place in the annual Cunnock Play contest at Northwestern University, Chicago. Entrance is limited to nine schools. The four judges split their votes evenly between K. S. A. C. and West Virginia University, and on a percentage scoring basis, less than two per cent separated the ranking of the two schools.

Debate

DEBATE at Kansas State is under the direction of Prof. H. B. Summers, of the department of public speaking. The following intercollegiate debates were held in which the men's teams participated:

MISSOURI	DRAKE	CREIGHTON
ST. MARYS	LOUISIANA	SOUTH DAKOTA
MORNINGSIDE	NEBRASKA	KANSAS U.
COLORADO	OKLAHOMA U.	BAYLOR
TEXAS U.	TEXAS A. AND M.	ARKANSAS U.
NORTHWESTERN		PITTSBURGH U.

Women's intercollegiate debates were with the following schools:

BETHANY	BAKER
KANSAS WESLEYAN	OTTAWA
KANSAS U.	K. S. T. C. OF EMPORIA
COLLEGE OF EMPORIA	STERLING

The following people participated in intercollegiate debates during the 1926-27 season:

MORRISON

OUTSTANDING in the performance of Kansas State orators during 1926-27 was the winning of the Missouri Valley Oratorical Contest, at St. Louis, by Robert E. Hedberg, a senior in general science. K. S. A. C. has the highest average standing of any school in the Valley Association since its reorganization at the close of the war. Twice Wildcat orators have won first, and with one exception they have never placed lower than first place. Hedberg's oration was "Puppets of the Press." Last year he won the national contest of Pi Kappa Delta.

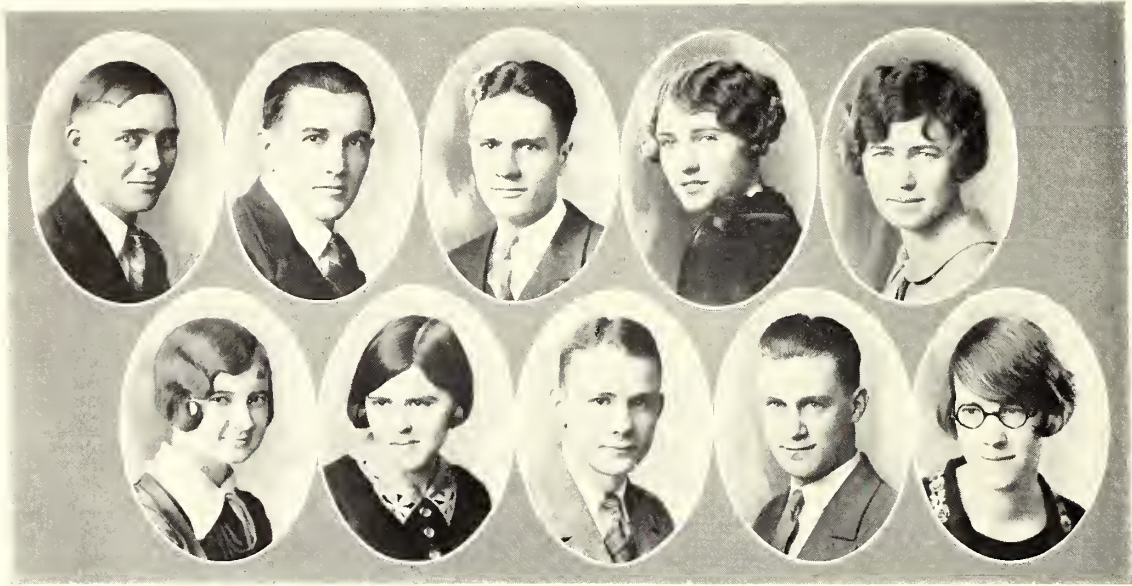

At the district convention of Pi Kappa Delta, national forensic fraternity, held at Ottawa University, Frank Morrison represented Kansas State in both the oratory and extempore speech contests, winning first place in the extempore contest. Morrison is a senior in general science, has been a member of various intercollegiate debate teams, and was winner one year of the inter-society oratorical contest.

Geraldine Reboul was the first K. S. A. C. representative in the amateur contest of the Women's State Oratorical Association, held at the K. S. T. C. of Emporia in 1925. She placed second in that contest. The following year Barbara Firebaugh took second place at the contest, held at Fairmount College, Wichita.

K. S. A. C. was represented in the 1927 contest at the College of Emporia.

Women were permitted to enter the forensic contests of Pi Kappa Delta this year, and Miss Reboul was third in oratory at the Ottawa District Convention.

Bare Knees Routed at Co-ed College

WOMAN DEAN WINS BATTLE OVER DANCES

Girls Must Wear Bloomers Which Reach Hose at Kansas Agricultural School
Young Women Had Been "Parking" Undergarments for Comfort in Ballroom

MANHATTAN, Kan., April 2.—The bare knees issue, the chief topic in sorority and fraternity houses at the Kansas State Agricultural College here since the Christmas vacation, has been settled and the knees have been defeated.

With the passing of the bare knees has come an accompanying demand for women's bloomers, the main article of clothing in the college wardrobe. The girls, who had been "parking" their undergarments in the ballroom for comfort, now must wear bloomers which reach the hose.

Checked Their Bloomers

It is the story of Mrs. Mary P. Dean, dean of women, who has been checking the bloomers of the girls in the ballroom. She has found that many of the girls were wearing bloomers that were too short, and she has been checking them to see that they are of the proper length.

Bare Knees Banned

The dean of women has issued a decree that bare knees are no longer permitted in the ballroom. This decree was issued after a long and hard battle with the girls, who had been insisting on their right to wear shorts.

Inol

It is the story of Mrs. Mary P. Dean, dean of women, who has been checking the bloomers of the girls in the ballroom. She has found that many of the girls were wearing bloomers that were too short, and she has been checking them to see that they are of the proper length.

'OFF WITH FORE' Wrong? Right!

Bloomer Sales Boom in Manhattan Since Dean of Women's Order Veiling Knees

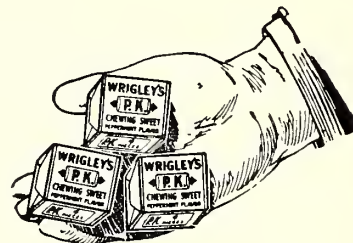

Before and after enforcement of the bloomer order at the Kansas State Agricultural college in Manhattan. The picture shows how bloomers and hose failed to meet on the ground of some of the college roads before Mrs. Mary P. Dean, dean of women, ruled that they must be tucked between the two garments. The other shows the change made when the K. S. A. C. code observed the new rule.

For the Boys and Girls Back Home, Who May Come Up Here Next Year

KAPPA SIGMA

Kappa Sigma was founded to provide a home for young boys who get out of high school too soon. Kappa Sigma's proudest boast is that they have never had a member in Phi Kappa Phi. To be a true Kappa Sig you must try at least once to raise a mustache. This accounts for the look of despair on the Kappa Sig's faces. Kappa Sigma has one hundred and one chapters, but it is thought that the epidemic is now pretty well under control.

PHI DELTA THETA

Phi Delta Theta was founded by Lydia E. Pinkham, to make the men who worked in her elixir plant responsible. How the old girl came out, has long since become a musty secret in the archives of the Phi Delta Theta. The Phi Deltas, in coalition with H. Miles Heberer, organized a holding company in Purple Masque with very gratifying results. The Phi Delt Brothers are the ultra ultra, and one of the tests is to drink orangepekoe and not slop it on the vest.

BETA THETA PI

The Betas were probably founded at Herrin, Ill., though no one knows for sure; it might have been at San Juan Hill. The Betas do more than train the farm boys the way of the cup and fork; the Betas have a rigid system of calisthenics and all Betas have that healthy look when they finally get around to be seniors. The Betas boast that Andre Formain, the inventor of Rock and Rye, was a Beta.

PI KAPPA ALPHA

Pi Kappa Alpha was founded at Mulvane, Kansas, during a lull in the milk-workers' strike. Pi K A was founded to give the striking milkers a little more pull with the cows. The Pi K. A.s, being more gentle and refined than the general run of Aggies, are not the big cave men that some of their rougher brothers are, and therefore always pad their legs when wearing knickers.

Styled for Young Men

PI BETA PHI

The sisters Pi Phi, always on the alert for what is being done and the thing of the moment, have gone in en masse for intellectualism. They have subscribed to the book-of-the-month club and all difficulties with their pledges are described in terms of complexes and inhibitions. One of the sisters said that she had no inhibitions and she became, at once, the most popular girl in the chapter till the boys learned that it was only one of her little jokes. . . . and thus we leave them.

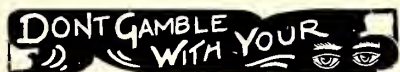

KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA

. . . .the campus heavy-weights; all in the hundred and ninety-five-pound class. Gene Tunney and Strangler Lewis are the Kappa's patron saints. The old, old song about "Kappa kisses, Kappa kisses," has changed to a more raucous and more appropriate "Kappa Decision, Kappa Decision, Best Two Falls out of Three."

CHI OMEGA

Organizers and founders of "The strength of the people" and not a one of them with over a three-inch chest expansion. Chi Omega is the "sorority with a variety" and it is a barber-shop fact that, if the amorous boys cannot get a date there they just as well resume writing to the little girl back home.

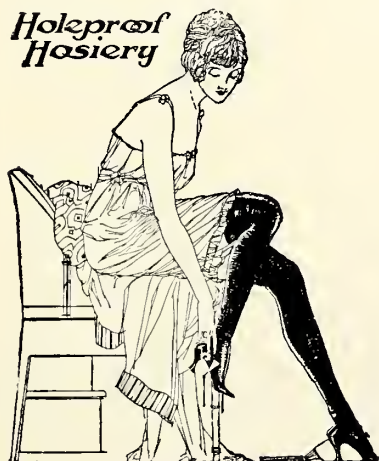

DELTA DELTA DELTA

Exponents of the press-agent stunt who pledged the Tulsa Rose Queen and with some clever promotion got her picture into every out-of-town paper in the good old U. S. A. The Tulsa Rose Queen won all the things that a young girl could possibly win. Now we ask you why shouldn't a group of young girls like this succeed?

Another group of go-getters—sold more Royal Purples than anyone else, entered four girls in the Beauty Contest, got two Phi Kappa Phis. Just a bunch of good girls trying to get ahead. Before you dole out your pin, boys give these girls a look.

Our Campus Beautiful

It is with pardonable pride that the 1927 Royal Purple presents this page of hitherto unpublished views of the K. S. A. C. campus, which all the home town folks admit is the most beautiful in the United States.

Above

Upper right—Showing the beautiful lawn of the Engineering Building.

Lower right—Something novel in the way of landscaping effects achieved by members of the veterinary division.

Below

Upper left—What a few inexpensive fence posts and a little barbed wire can do when properly placed.

Right—This is not the new tunnel under the Hudson river, but a wind-testing machine, maintained for Messrs. Hill, Ahern and Hedburg et al.

COMPLETION QUIZ (Cross out wrong answer)

1. Frank Morrison { is a great orator.
 { simply has a large chest expansion.
2. The liquor situation in Manhattan { is good.
 { looks favorable.
3. The Delta Taus' pledge { only students.
 { any old "K" sweater.
4. Quill Club { is a bunch of authors.
 { has no Jim Crow rule.
5. The bloomer rule { has created a great sale.
 { hasn't helped any man's astigmatism.

What will the future bring???

EVERY young man or woman of to-day wonders what to-morrow will mean for him or her. Whether you measure your success in dollars and cents, or in contentment and the respect of those in the community in which you live, there is just one answer—the answer is THRIFT.

To practice this golden virtue is the only assurance that you will reap the reward to which your education entitles you.

In appreciation of the wonderful work that the Kansas State Agricultural College and her students are doing for our state, the Associated Banks of Manhattan take pleasure in extending this message on “Better Citizenship” to you through the 1926 Royal Purple.

Your Future Career

THE BEST AND MOST LUCRATIVE BUSINESS CAREER is what every ambitious senior of K. S. A. C. should be thinking about at the present time. Now is the time for you to consider what you are going to do after graduation.

Life insurance is one of the best, and most desirable—as a permanent calling open to educated ambitious young men and women today.

In assets and volume of business, life insurance is one of the three leading businesses of America, yet the field is comparatively undeveloped. Only seven per cent of the economic value of human life is covered by insurance in this country. Between eighty-five and ninety per cent of all estates left in the United States is left in insurance, yet less than three per cent of American income is spent for life insurance. This indicates great opportunities in the profession.

No vocation offers more avenues of service to humanity than this profession—yet statistics show that it stands at the top as a source of income to the man who attends to business. Opportunity to earn from $3,000.00 to $10,000 annually.

Theodore Roosevelt said, "Nine-tenths of wisdom consists in being wise in time."

THE PEORIA LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, the fastest growing Old Line Life Insurance Company in America, and which has a mammoth business in Kansas, will send a representative to Manhattan to interview Seniors who may be contemplating life insurance as a profession.

If you wish to be included in this interview, or if you decide at a later date, send notice to State Manager, W. H. Luellen, of the Peoria Life Insurance Company, 620-24 New England Building, Topeka, Kansas.

Learning While Serving

From boyhood it was said of Abraham Lincoln that he was a "learner." In his ambition to post himself he sat at the feet of whoever could teach him. In time he overtopped them all.

The "learner" rises above his competitors in all life's activities. He masters conditions because he learns all about them.

We sit at the feet of the public wherever we have Stores learning and posting ourselves of the needs of home and person as best we can.

Diligently applying ourselves to the responsible task of providing those needed when needed is the virtue to which may be traced much of the extraordinary development of this Company.

SIMULTANEOUS with the growth and expansion of Kansas State Agricultural College, Kansas Farmer has advanced in prestige and broadened its field of usefulness. Just as the big state institution exerts a tremendous influence in the agricultural life of the state, so does Kansas Farmer. For its history dates back sixty-five years—within two years as old as the state itself. The years have built a solid foundation of universal respect and confidence, simply because its mission then as now has been to serve the people of the state and make good farmers better farmers.

A Hotel Particularly Attractive to College Men and Women

The Muehlebach with its ranking as one of America's outstanding hotels and with its unrivaled popularity as the center of amusement because of the orchestras of its dining rooms, is an ideal hotel for College men and women.

Dancing at Luncheon, Dinner, and Supper, and Nationally Famous Recording Orchestras

The colorful Plantation Grill always presents a nationally famous phonograph recording orchestra for the dance periods—luncheon, dinner and supper. You'll enjoy the tempting music of these unusual dance music artists.

HOTEL MUEHLEBACH

KANSAS CITY, MISSOURI

—INTER-COLLEGIATE ALUMNI HOTELS—

Popular for Years With College Folk!

The Hotel Baltimore always has been a popular gathering spot for university people. Its large, roomy, high-ceilinged rooms, no longer possible in the newest hotels because of prohibitive building costs, permit a freedom which is attractive to young men and women.

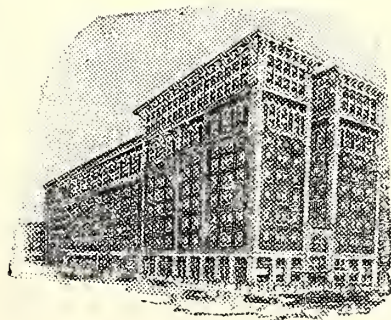

The management of the Baltimore conscientiously follows a policy of making every guest enjoy a happy visit in Kansas City with a service designed to please the most exacting guest.

RESTAURANT—COFFEE SHOP

The beautiful Marble Restaurant-Coffee Shop proves a popular dining room. There is service at both counter and tables and the prices are surprisingly moderate.
